Antioch's water reported to be high quality

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

As mandated by the Safe Drinking Water Act (SDWA), a consumer confidence report has been published detailing the results of tests done on Antioch's water sources.

"Antioch has a high quality water," said Mike Ruxton, water and sewer superintendent for the Village of Antioch.

According to Ruxton, the Safe Drinking Water Act requires yearly testing of all public water supplies. The results of these tests must be supplied in reports.

Six underground wells, located throughout the village limits, supply water to residents. The water is pumped from aquifers located hundreds of feet below the ground's surface.

Ruxton said, "As with any well water, there are numerous inorganic substances such as iron, calcium and manganese. The levels are well within the allowable limits and pose no health risk."

The Village of Antioch routinely tests and monitors the drinking water supply as required by the IEPA. Items monitored include microbiological, inorganic and organic compounds. Tests also check for pesticides and herbicides that come from agriculture, stormwater runoff and residential uses.

Microbiological contaminants are defined as viruses and bacteria that may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations and wildlife.

Inorganic contaminants are defined as salts and metals that can be either naturally occurring or a result of urban storm runoff, industrial or domestic discharges, oil and gas production, mining or farming.

Organic chemical contaminants include synthetic and volatile organics such as the byproducts of industrial processes and petroleum production. Additionally, these contaminants can come from gas stations, urban stormwater runoff and septic systems.

The maximum contaminant level (MCL) is the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water.

All of the substances found in the drinking water supplies for Antioch are within allowable levels. The village conducted many tests, but only the substances listed below were found in the water supplies.

The MCL for arsenic is 50 parts per billion (ppb). Of the samples taken, the amount of arsenic found ranged from 0-6 ppb. Major sources include erosion of natural deposits, runoff from orchards, and runoff from glass and electronics production waste.

The action level (AL), or the concentration of contaminant which triggers treatment if exceeded, for lead is 15 ppb. Samples ranged from 0-12 for lead. The main source for lead in drinking water is corrosion of household plumbing systems and erosion of natural deposits.

Barium has an MCL of 2 ppm (parts per million). The samples showed traces ranging from .047 to

Lift station work scheduled

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Lift station work at Hennings Court is underway.

According to Mike Ruxton, water and sewer superintendent for the Village of Antioch, the pre-construction meeting will set the foundation for the work that is to be done at Hennings Court which services the communities of Heron Harbor, Falcon Hills, Landmark Point and Mystic Cove.

"We are going to completely replace the lift station, which will modernize the facility and increase its capacity," he said.

The project should take 6-8 weeks, but that time frame won't be set until the pre-construction meeting scheduled to be held on July 13 has been completed. Work will begin shortly thereafter.

"There will be no loss of service or interruption of service while the work is taking place. We will put the new station in, pipe everything over from the current station and then abandon the old station," said Ruxton.

More loans available for flood victims

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The First National Bank Employee Owned (FNBEO) is now offering loan assistance to residents of Lake and McHenry counties who sustained flood damage as a result of the storms.

According to senior loan officer Marvin Oldenburger, "There should be plenty of funds to cover the needs of the flood victims."

Loans will be written at an interest rate set by the State of Illinois on the day the loan is closed. The bank anticipates the annual percentage rate will be between 5.25 percent and 5.75 percent depending on market conditions.

Funding for the loans can be received anywhere from 1-10 days from the date of the bank's application for the funds.

The deadline to apply for assistance is Sept. 20.

Oldenburger said, "While it would be helpful, it's not necessary for people to come in with their estimates in hand. We can always talk to them about the loan, and catch up the other stuff afterward."

Those needing assistance can apply for a loan at either FNBEO facility at 485 Lake St. in Antioch, or at 36044 N. Brookside Dr. in Gurnee.

"Any loan officer can help," said Oldenburger.

For more information call the bank at 838-2265.

Teacher gains honors from Wal-Mart

Blue vests may be the in-look at St. Bede School next year.

For one staff member, the blue vests from Wal-Mart symbolize a very good year. Lindenhurst resident Rita Ferrara is the Round Lake Beach Wal-Mart teacher-of-the-year.

Ferrara has been at the Ingleside Catholic school since 1989, teaching second-grade students.

"I like their enthusiasm and they like school," said Ferrara.

Ferrara is a big fan of Catholic schools. She said she is "thrilled" with winning the award.

"I like the family atmosphere, with the parents and educators," she said.

"This is the first time we have had a teacher win the Wal-Mart award. Ferrara is extremely dedicated, organized and always puts the children first," said St. Bede principal Margaret Webb.

Wal-Mart's Sylvia Reete gave Ferrara a $500 gift certificate, a plaque and, of course, the coveted blue vest.

"Teachers have one of the most challenging and critical jobs in our country. The Teacher of the Year Award program is our associates' way of letting teachers know how much we appreciate their contributions to the education of our youth, which in turn contribute to the vitality of our communities," said Lee Scott, president and chief executive officer of Wal-Mart Stores, Inc.

The Teacher of the Year program honors in the communities. More than 10,700 teachers have been honored and $5 million in education grants given to local schools.

'Ah! Wilderness' to show at PM&L

The PM&L Theatre is currently rehearsing its last production of the season, "Ah! Wilderness" by Eugene O'Neil. This is its sixth show for Season 39.

The play is directed by Mark Badtke from Genoa City, Wis. Other cast members are Tom Hausman, Phil Bednar, June Lubkeman, Scott Badtke, Tracy Kiederlen and Jay Aufmann from Antioch. Cast members from Lindenhurst include Steve and Linda Willding. Dolores Finley appears from Round Lake, and from Ingleside is Aaron Starnes. Amanda Palazzo comes in from McHenry with Mathew Conkrite from Fox Lake. Colleen Badtke joins in from Genoa City.

Mark Fletcher from Round Lake Beach plays the lead character of Richard. The play is writer O'Neil's only comedy.

Hausman, who plays Richard's father, explained that O'Neil is considered a great playwright.

"All of his plays are tragedies," Hausman said. "All except this one. His greatest play, 'Long Days Journey & Tonight,' is semi-autobiographical on O'Neil growing up and 'Ah! Wilderness' is a companion piece for it. It is what he would have liked to grow up like."

The play is set over the two-day period of July 4-5, 1906. Richard is 16 and through the course of the play, learns some lessons of life, one of which is that his parents aren't as naive as he thinks.

"It is a typical New England family," said Badtke. "And the 16-year old man comes to a time where he is very rebellious. He begins reading books that are considered banned at that time."

"It's a very humorous warm-hearted play," Hausman said. "It's a good play that any age group can enjoy."

Hausman has been involved with PM&L Theatre for 29 years.

"This is one of my favorite plays," Hausman said. "And 17 years ago I directed it."

The play is three acts, with seven scenes each, and runs two and a half hours. The company is moving into its fourth week of rehearsals.

The play will show July 28-29, Aug. 4-5, and 11-12 at 8 p.m. and July 30, Aug. 6 and 13 at 2:30 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the PM&L Theatre box office beginning July 17 or reservations may be made by calling 395-3055.

Tickets are $10 for adults and $8 for seniors and students. Box office hours are Monday through Thursday 5:30-7:30 p.m., Saturday 11 a.m.-2 p.m., and one and a half hours before curtain on production dates.

Assistance offered for home repair

Classes also to be held for first-time homebuyers

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The Affordable Housing Corporation of Lake County is a not-for-profit corporation that offers assistance for first-time homebuyers, and homeowners in need of making improvements to their homes.

There is a rehabilitation program which offers different types of loans such as amortizing with a low fixed-interest rate for 15 years, deferred loans with zero interest and forgivable loans after five years.

The program's emphasis is on health and safety issues including handicap accessibility, window replacement, roof repairs and the like.

"The key is to make repairs affordable so that people can maintain their homes," said executive director Mary Ellen Tamasy.

The organization not only helps to secure financing but works with approved contractors to assess necessary improvements, bid on the project and then complete the work. Tamasy stressed that it is the homeowners who review the bids and decide which contractor will work for them.

She added, "Many people, especially seniors and those on fixed or limited incomes, are worried about being hit up by scam artists. We are not in this business for the money, and offer a safe alternative to going out there (to hire a contractor) alone."

The first-time homebuyers' project offers financial assistance as well as classes for potential purchasers.

Maximum assistance to each qualified buyer is $5,000. This assistance can be used for down payment, closing costs or interest reduction.

The assistance is secured with a zero percent second mortgage loan that is payable upon sale, transfer or refinancing with cash out of the property. No monthly payment is required.

Classes for potential buyers are offered through a homeowner counseling program.

"Our goal is to make successful homeowners," said Tamasy. "We help people through every step of the process."

The classes for first-time homebuyers cover such information as what things to look for in a home, budgeting, working with realtors in addition to information about the homeowner responsibilities and maintaining the home.

Financial guidelines are set up for program participation. The rehabilitation program is not available to residents of Waukegan, Zion or North Chicago.

"Our corporation doesn't specifically deal with the homeless or public housing. We help nurses, police, teachers and young professionals," said Tamasy. "We also work with county economic development groups and employers so that employees can afford to live near to where they work."

For more information contact the Affordable Housing Corporation of Lake County at 263-7478.

Panda, Grande Jake's, Harbor Club and JC's Pizzeria.

Bargain hunters will be in luck as the downtown shops bring their merchandise out to the sidewalks and offer some unbelievable savings.

Children of all ages will enjoy the classy new carnival rides and a variety of musical artists.

Chamber president Dee Dee Palmer said, "The whole overall change gives us an opportunity to incorporate more types of music and amusements to appeal to a wider variety of people."

Events scheduled for Thursday will include bingo at 2 p.m. and 4 p.m., and a musical performance by BBI (formerly Brass Bullets, Inc.) 7-10 p.m.

Friday's schedule will include bingo at 2 p.m. and 4 p.m., the toe tapping music of Bopology swing band will be presented from 7:30-10:30 p.m.

Saturday's musical highlights will be the performances of Antioch's Grease Band from 4-7 p.m. immediately followed by Lynn Jordan and the Shivers.

Sunday provides local entertainment by the Lakes Area Community Band and the Big Band from noon-2 p.m. Antioch teens showcase their rock and roll under the Big Top Tent.

License suspended at Totally 80s

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

As a result of events occurring in May, the Totally 80s night club in Antioch will have its liquor license suspended for 10 days beginning July 17.

Detective John Byrne of the criminal investigations unit of the Lake County Sheriff's Dept. said, "Through an agreed order, the establishment will be closed from July 17-26."

The club was charged with serving liquor after hours, over-serving patrons and permitting a battery.

Byrne added, "The club is being fined $2,500 in addition to the 10-day suspension."

During the club's closure, management is to train employees on handling situations involving intoxicated patrons as well as providing training to ensure patrons are not over served.

Local artist invited to Sheboygan festival

Resident Jill Tortorella is one of 130 artists who has been asked to participate at the 30th annual outdoor festival to be held July 15-16 at the John Michael Kohler Arts Center in Sheboygan, Wis.

Tortorella graduated from the School of the Art Institute in Chicago in 1981. She teaches private pottery classes and conducts pottery workshops.

"I make high fire (2,300 degrees) functional art pottery. My stoneware pieces are one of a kind," said Tortorella.

The festival is held rain or shine. It is sponsored by Piggly Wiggly/Schultz Sav-O stores.

Artists from across the United States will converge on an entire city block in downtown Sheboygan to display and sell juried works of art. The works of art will include ceramics, drawing, fiber/textiles, glass, paper, jewelry, leatherwork, metalwork, painting, photography, prints, sculpture, wood and mixed media.

It is reported that the festival draws an estimated 20,000 people annually. Free live musical entertainment is part of the draw.

Workshops will be held throughout the festival and include experiencing throwing clay on a potter's wheel, painting bright, wearable smocks and creating garden wind socks.

A total of $3,000 will be awarded to a select group of artists at the end of the day on Saturday for the best works of art, regardless of medium.

Good luck to Antioch's own.

Aglow International and the Antioch Community Lighthouse Church invite those interested to attend a brunch meeting on July 22 at 9:15 a.m. at the Hunter Country Club in Richmond.

The speaker will be Barbara Karpouzian of Chicago. She is a wife, mother of two daughters, a licensed minister of the Gospel and a teacher with a master's degree in education.

Barbara is the president of Upper Room Ministries, a group working to equip individuals with the truth.

Reservations are requested by July 19. Call Janice at 265-5060 for more information.

ANTIOCH

Minor consumption of alcohol

Jeffrey C. Shike, 19, of 6407 237th Ave. in Paddock Lake, Wis., was arrested for consumption of alcohol by a minor under zero tolerance on July 9 at 1:19 a.m.

Police saw his blue Chevy S-10 pick-up truck parked on the side of the southbound lane of traffic on Trevor Rd. north of North Ave. The vehicle had its headlights on and was left with the motor running.

Police checked the interior of the vehicle and found Shike asleep behind the wheel. The officer turned off the vehicle and woke up Shike.

Upon speaking to Shike, police noticed the strong odor of alcohol on Shike's breath. The officer asked Shike for his driver's license with Shike giving police his credit card, passing over his driver's license several times before giving it to police.

When asked, Shike said he had a few beers earlier. Police requested Shike exit the vehicle for a sobriety test with Shike agreeing. According to police, he stumbled to the rear of the truck. He told police he felt dizzy and may throw up.

He then attempted to lie down on the side of the road. Police advised he sit on the edge of the truck bed and did not conduct the sobriety test for safety reasons.

Police asked Shike how old he was and placed him under arrest for zero tolerance. He was transported to the Antioch Police Department. Shike was issued citations for improper parking on the roadway and for minor consumption of alcohol.

Shike agreed to a breath test with results of .13 blood alcohol concentration. Police report he admitted to consuming 10-12 beers. He was released on personal recognition pending a July 31 court date in Waukegan.

Driving on suspended license

Candice A. Butler, 32, of 40129 N. Westshore Dr. in Antioch was arrested on July 7 at 7:25 p.m. for driving on a suspended license.

Police saw a white Nissan on southbound Rte. 83 at Orchard with no rear license plate. The officer activated his emergency light attempting to stop the vehicle. The vehicle turned right onto Orchard and left into Piggly Wiggly parking lot without signaling.

Police advised Butler of the reason for the stop. She said she had just bought the vehicle and hadn't registered it yet. Butler said she did not have her driver's license with her.

The officer obtained her identifiers and checked them through LEADS/NCIC via dispatch with Butler coming back as suspended.

She was issued citations for not having valid vehicle registration, driving while suspended and failure to signal when required.

Butler was released on a personal recognition bond pending her Aug. 9 court date in Grayslake.

Revoked driver's license

Charles H. Eldridge III, 28, of 10701 Main St. in Richmond was arrested on July 7 at 1:24 p.m. for driving on a revoked license.

Police observed a silver Mercedes traveling eastbound on Rte. 173 at a high rate of speed. He was locked traveling 50 mph in a posted 40 mph zone. The car was also observed weaving in and out the eastbound lane.

According to police, the vehicle crossed over the white line with all four tires and then weaved over the center yellow line with the driver's side tires. It was reported that he almost drove off of the road. Police pulled Eldridge over and advised him of the reason for the stop. Police requested his driver's license and proof of insurance. Eldridge said he had left his driver's license at home.

The officer obtained Eldridge's name and date of birth and ran them through LEADS/NCIC. Eldridge came back as having a revoked driver's license.

Police advised Eldridge his license was revoked. He told the officer he was aware due to a past DUI. Eldridge was put through booking procedures. He received citations for driving while revoked, speeding and improper lane usage. He was released on a personal recognition bond pending his Aug. 23 court date in Grayslake.

No valid license

Juan A. Montes-Rivera, 31, of 2619 Cornelia in Waukegan, was arrested on July 6 at 11:41 a.m. for driving without a driver's license.

Police observed a silver Toyota traveling southbound on Rte. 83 at a high rate of speed. Police obtained a reading of 45 mph in a posted 30 mph zone.

Montes-Rivera was informed of the reason for the stop. He told police he did not have a driver's license and that he has only been in the country for one month.

His identifiers were checked through LEADS and returned "no record on file."

He was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Department and put through booking procedures.

He was issued citations for speeding, no valid driver's license and failure to wear a seatbelt.

DUI

Gregory P. Bochniak, 50, of 1203 Main St. in Antioch, was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol on July 5 at 12:24 a.m.

Police were dispatched to eastbound Grass Lake Rd. west of Rte. 59. At the time of dispatch police were told the Lake County Sheriff's Office had no available units. As police proceeded south of Beach Grove Rd., the officer saw the black two-door Geo mentioned in the dispatch heading northbound on Rte. 59 with two occupants.

Police turned the squad car around and followed the vehicle. The driver immediately activated his right turn signal. Upon reaching Beach Grove Rd., the driver made a wide right turn entering the westbound lane of traffic.

Bochniak was pulled over on Beach Grove Rd. The officer requested his driver's license. Police could see a six-pack of Ice House beer on the floor in the rear of the car with bottles missing and one open.

Bochniak smelled of strong odor of alcohol. When asked if he had been drinking, he said, "Yeah, beer!" Police requested a sobriety test. Bochniak staggered to the front of the squad car. He mumbled part of the alphabet when recitation was requested. He could not perform the one-legged test or the walk and turn test.

He was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol. The beer was retained as evidence. Bochniak agreed to a breath test with the results of .22 blood alcohol concentration. Citations were issued for improper lane usage, BAC of more than .08 blood alcohol concentration and illegal transportation of alcohol.

LINDENHURST

DUI

Thomas B. Arnold, 31, of 330 Beck Rd. in Lindenhurst was arrested at 9:41 p.m. on July 3, charged with DUI alcohol, driving with a suspended license, driving without a valid registration, improper use of registration and driving an uninsured motor vehicle. Lindenhurst Police responded to a report of a vehicle off the roadway. At Highpoint and Beck Rd. police found a white Oldsmobile with a broken tie-rod. No driver was present. The plates were registered to Arnold. A 40-ounce bottle of beer was found in the passenger compartment. When located, at first Arnold said a friend had been driving, but the alleged friend was nowhere to be found. Police detected alcohol on his breath, his eyes were bloodshot and his speech was slurred. Arnold then admitted driving the car. A check revealed his license was suspended. He failed field sobriety tests. A PBT at the scene registered .114 BAC. A subsequent breathalyzer test showed a .117 BAC. Arnold was charged and released on a $300 cash bond pending appearance at Waukegan courtroom C-402 at 9 a.m. on July 18.

Brian C. Easton, 20, of 8120 199th Ave. in Bristol, Wis., was stopped by Lindenhurst Police at 12:30 a.m. on July 4 when he was observed crossing the white and yellow solid lines on Rte. 45 near Falling Waters. Police smelled alcohol on his breath. His eyes were glassy and bloodshot and his speech was slurred. He said he'd had three beers. Field sobriety tests showed impairment. PBT readings were .101 BAC, and a subsequent breathalyzer reading was .086 BAC. He was charged with DUI, DUI over .08 and improper lane usage. He was released on an I-bond. His court appearance was set for 9 a.m. on July 18 at Waukegan courtroom C-402.

Michael J. Brzanski, 20, of 2105 Woodlane Dr. in Lindenhurst, was arrested at 11:40 p.m. on July 6 after an attendant at the White Hen Pantry at 2144 Sand Lake Rd. told a Lindenhurst police officer at the store that three people seen leaving the store in a Chevy Cavalier were intoxicated. The officer located the driver, later identified as Brzanski. He had the smell of alcohol on his breath and could not produce a driver's license. Police say he insisted that he had not been drinking, but his speech was slurred. Field sobriety tests showed impairment. The PBT reading was .183, and a breathalyzer reading was .197 BAC. He was charged with DUI and DUI over .08. He was released on an I-bond, pending appearance at Waukegan courtroom C-402 on July 18 at 9 a.m. His two companions were juveniles, who were charged with minor consumption of alcohol.

Revoked license

Donald Vencevich, 40, of N. 7437 County H in Elkhorn, Wis., was stopped by Lindenhurst Police on Grass Lake Rd. and Golden Rd. at 7:55 p.m. on July 7 when it was observed that his motorcycle registration had expired in March 2000. A computer check showed his Illinois license was revoked, although he had a valid Wisconsin license. He was charged with driving with a revoked license and released on $200 cash bond pending appearance at Grayslake Branch III on August 2 at 1:30 p.m.

Speeding, invalid license

Ruben Cortez, 36, of 2249 S. Central Park in Chicago, was stopped by Lindenhurst Police for driving 49 mph in a 35 mph zone on Grand Ave. east of Granada Blvd. at 9:30 p.m. on July 7. Police observed he and his passenger were not wearing seatbelts. When asked for a license, Cortez had none. His passenger produced a valid license. Cortez was charged with speeding and having no valid license. His passenger was cited for riding without a seatbelt. She took possession of the vehicle. Cortez was released on a $100 cash bond, and scheduled to appear in Grayslake Branch II at 10:30 a.m. on August 2.

Discover past, explore future with Family Explorer Card

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Public Library has a new benefit to offer card-holding members. The library has a card called the Family Explorer Card which can be checked out in the same way one would check out a book.

The program is a partnership of public libraries and museums which provides a unique learning experience for families. It allows families to get free admission into some museums, and free gifts at others.

Michelle Cunningham, assistant to the children's librarian, said, "There is a separate card for each museum. This way if one family has a card for one museum, it doesn't prevent other families from having access for another museum."

Participating museums include Arlington Heights Historical Museum, Com Ed's The Powerhouse in Zion, Cuneo Museum and Gardens in Vernon Hills, Des Plaines Historical Museum, Evanston Historical Society at the Charles Gates Dawes House, Health World in Barrington, Lake County Discovery Museum in Wauconda, McHenry County Historic Society in Union, Mitchell Museum of the American Indian in Evanston and Skokie Heritage Museum.

The cards are limited as the program hopes to reach as many families as possible by distributing them between 34 public libraries.

For this reason, there are several rules attached to the cards. A valid library card is needed to check out a Family Explorer Card.

The term family refers to couples, parents and children, grandparents and grandchildren, and adult siblings.

Cards circulate for a one-week time period, and only one card for one museum may be checked out at a time.

There are no reserves or renewals of a card. Fines and penalties apply for loss, damage and late returns.

Cards must be presented upon entering the museum. As a courtesy, children must be accompanied by an adult.

Cunningham added, "Pamphlets about the Family Explorer Card tell all about the museums that are participating. These can be picked up in either the flyer stand at the entrance of the library or at the circulation desk."

Board hears about Gateway Youth*Foundation shares program history, future plans with Dist. 117 officials

By BECKY DUBA
Staff Reporter

The Gateway Youth Care Foundation—a private substance treatment facility—hosted the Antioch Community High School Board Meeting at its serene tree hidden location off of Derring Road in Lake Villa.

Being in Lake Villa, Gateway falls into District 117 jurisdiction. By regulation of school code, if there is a drug care facility in the district, it has an obligation to ensure the children are educated.

Director of the educational program Jerry Pitts gave a presentation to the board about how the educational program works.

"We started this program 15 years ago and for the first three years we had 16 beds," Pitts said. "By this August, we're going to have 69 beds available."

The educational program has eight classrooms in the facility. The classes remain small with only eight to 10 students per teacher.

"One-third of our students require special educational needs," Pitts said. "So the way the program works is that we take the needs of the student and mold the program around their necessities."

He also explained how Gateway offers all a conventional school does.

"The program has grown way beyond what we had expected," Pitts said.

Working on school assignments and seeing their accomplishments is a way of hope for the students who are coming off of substance abuse. It gives them something to show for their hard work, Pitts explained to the board.

Pitts said he greatly enjoys working at Gateway because of the interaction with the students.

"We get kids that nobody wants," he said in reference to the 139 students that were sent to Gateway this past year by court order.

Laura Lohne, director of Gateway Youth Care, handles all of the students' activities after school hours. They are kept very busy with individual and group work, along with basic family chores.

"We appreciate the partnership with the school district," Lohne said. "There are three other programs in the state, and the one here in Lake Villa is superb compared to the rest. We're very grateful for everything."

Gateway puts no financial burden on the district. Each individual student's home district is responsible for paying the educational needs.

After the presentation, Superintendent Dr. Dennis Hockney said, "This is a very secure safe location. Everyone must sign-in and out. Basically, the reason why these kids are here is because of a violation with the law. It's either you're here or you're in jail."

The foundation is planning to build a gymnasium to house winter activities, but it's unknown when this will be done.

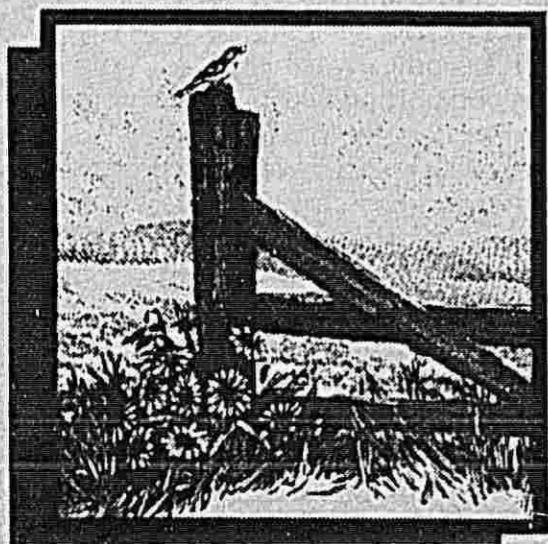

Enrollment for 2000-01 is expected at 250 students. The average stay for a student is four months, with the shortest successful enrollment at 21 days and the longest at 153 days.

A different kind of shopping excursion

It is a rare instance that hubby and I ever enter a store together—shopping is not a common interest we hold. I am a browser, he is a “get the first thing inside the door and then flee” kind of guy. On a recent weekend I bravely accompanied him to the local wood store.

Usually shopping, even the remotest thought of the word, causes a deep scowl and frown lines on the face of the man I married. This trip was totally different. He chatted the whole way to the store, almost giddily. That should have been a signal for what lay ahead. Any of you out there who have heard, “Honey I’m going to the wood store, and I’ll be right back,” know that it will be hours before you ever see the whites of the man’s eyes again.

But throwing caution to the wind, off we headed to the wood store, bubbly and bouncy. As we entered the store, hubby went directly over to the carts. Not the wire ones we are accustomed to at the local grocery store—oh no these carts were big enough to hold all four kids, my purse, his tool belt and three sheets of plywood, comfortably.

I knew trouble was brewing. I have since decided that there ought to be a rule at every wood store across the country that men may not enter accompanied by their significant other. It seems it would prevent an awful lot of lawsuits and divorce decrees.

It didn’t take a rocket scientist to see all the disgruntled females wandering aimlessly through the aisles as hubby picked up, and examined, each and every tool, piece of hardware, and bolt that had ever been manufactured. I know there was a reason we re-wrote our wedding vows to include, right between, “love, honor and cherish,” the promise that we would “never go shopping together.”

I now know why the kids never take Dad up on his offer to tag along with him on his Saturday morning visits to the wood store—it’s the shopping experience that never ends. As all of us wives stood around with glazed looks on our faces, it reminded me of the men who are subjected to standing outside store dressing rooms while Wifey tries on 943

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

outfits. Of sure he is stuck looking goofy holding her purse, but at least the malls provide chairs for them to sit on, us women are forced to stand there trying to look interested in widgets and gizmos.

As the meandering minutes turned into long drawn out hours and several missed meals, I was about ready to make a scene, one which I had witnessed a number of times in the hours we had been under those blaring fluorescent lights. Luckily, before I caved into the boredom, hubby declared he had his fill for the day and off we headed to the check-out counter with a cart full of unexplainable stuff. It amazes me that they spend so much time picking out items that nobody sees. Once they put all these trinkets and notions in their proper place, drywall, paint and wallpaper hide everything.

At least when a woman spends hours searching for that perfect dress, somebody gets a chance to gaze upon it. I wasn’t complaining through as we’re about to enter a lingering check-out line of smiling husbands and sullen wives, but we had to make one last stop first.

To my amazement, right there as you enter the check-out line, was a long shelf holding an assortment of candy like malted milk balls, candy corn and Boston baked beans, just waiting to be plucked up by the delighted dads. Candy in a wood store? It just goes to show they never grow up.

And so goes another “Jingle from Pringle.”

Immunizations to be offered at VFW

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The Lake County Health Department will be at the Antioch VFW Post 4551 on the third Wednesday of each month from 4-6 p.m.

“The cost is $8 per shot, however, we don’t turn anyone away. Immunizations are too important,” said Laura Pearson R.N. in charge of the Antioch site.

According to Pearson, infants age 2 months - 1 year need frequent immunizations. Children age 4-5 need to be immunized before entering kindergarten. The Hepatitis B series is required for fifth-graders.

Entering high school freshmen must have a tetanus shot. It is also recommended that they received the Hepatitis B series if they have not had it.

Pearson said, “Our focus centers around children, but tetanus shots are offered for adults who need one every 10 years. Sometimes we give MMR (measles, mumps, rubella) in cases of immigration or if a test has been done at work that shows the individual has no immunity.”

Parents must bring their children’s complete immunization records to the site.

“We have an automated phone system for people can call. That phone number is 360-6761.” said Pearson. “If there are questions needing to be answered by a nurse, people can call 360-3114.”

Pearson adds, “We do offer things like flu shots for adults, but that’s usually done through the seniors program.”

ENGAGEMENT

Field of dreams

The script couldn't have been written any better.

Some 10 years ago as Bert Getz Sr. gazed out over his farmland, he envisioned his own "Field of Dreams."

Formerly known as the old Stonehenge Farm, Getz had rejected many offers by developers, who wanted to replace 325 beautiful acres with rooftops.

Instead, Getz Sr. wanted to build the ideal golf course, insisting he do it "his way."

"I wanted to keep the land open," reflected Getz Sr. "So we decided to perhaps go the route of building a golf course here."

Enter longtime friend and Merit Club President Ed Oldfield.

The two chums had known each other for many years while Oldfield was the golf professional at Glenview Club and Getz Sr. a member.

"I'm definitely a big critic of golf course design and was happy to offer my advice," reflected Oldfield. "Whenever Bert and I played golf together, I was always pointing out that a bunker shouldn't be there or the contour of the green was backwards."

Just goes to show you what can happen when two great minds, golfing minds, nonetheless, converge.

Now standing in the southwestern corner of Belvidere and Milwaukee Roads is a gem of a golf course, the site of this year's U.S. Women's Open Golf Championship.

And I'm sure Getz Sr. shares the same thoughts as Golf Course Superintendent Oscar Miles.

"I like to look at it like a real harmonious walk in the park," said Miles. "We just wanted to try and create a little heaven out here."

Mission accomplished!

And the tandem of Getz Sr. and Oldfield definitely got their dream. And most likely after Sunday the 23rd, 150 of the top women players in the world will share the same sentiment.

•And on a sad note, Lakeland Newspapers and the NIU journalism program offers its condolences. We lost a good friend and comrade in Marx A. Gibson, who passed away last weekend after a battle with lung and bone cancer.

For more than 30 years, Marx was a leader in community journalism in Illinois. The former Joliet Herald News editor, Marx was a talented and prolific writer. He was also an award-winning editor whose newspapers earned him many distinctions under his tutelage. He served as Lakeland Newspapers mentor and trainer for close to a year.

"He was such a classy and knowledgeable guy in our business," reflected Lakeland Publishers William Schroeder Sr. "His quality touched everyone. He shared and helped everybody. He will be greatly missed in the journalism world."

Marx was supposed to receive the Judge Craven Award a few weeks back at the new IPA building in Springfield. The award is for the person who most contributed to 2nd Amendment rights.

From your truly, Marx was a great teacher and leader. He's already won that award in my book.

Now he has the opportunity of returning the favor-slap a deadline of St. Peter!

Sequoit baseball splits with Grayslake

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

Antioch head coach Paul Petty couldn't have said it better.

"We only have three seniors on the team but the potential is there," he said. "We still have a lot of work and conditioning ahead of us. That's summer baseball though. It's all about seeing how fast the guys can absorb any changes."

Petty, whose spring team claimed its first-ever regional title before falling in the sectional finals, got a good tune-up for the upcoming summer baseball state tournament last week, splitting a pair of five-inning games with visiting Grayslake.

In the opener, the Rams improved to 6-9 after prevailing 3-2.

The game featured two RBI singles by rightfielder Ryan Flemming and a third-inning solo blast over the left field fence by senior-to-be, catcher Aaron Bardy.

"He's a lot stronger than people think," said Ram head skipper Sean Ferrell on Bardy. "The lower half of his body is so strong. He had two or three homers in the spring and that was the second for him this summer. That's pretty good for a leadoff hitter."

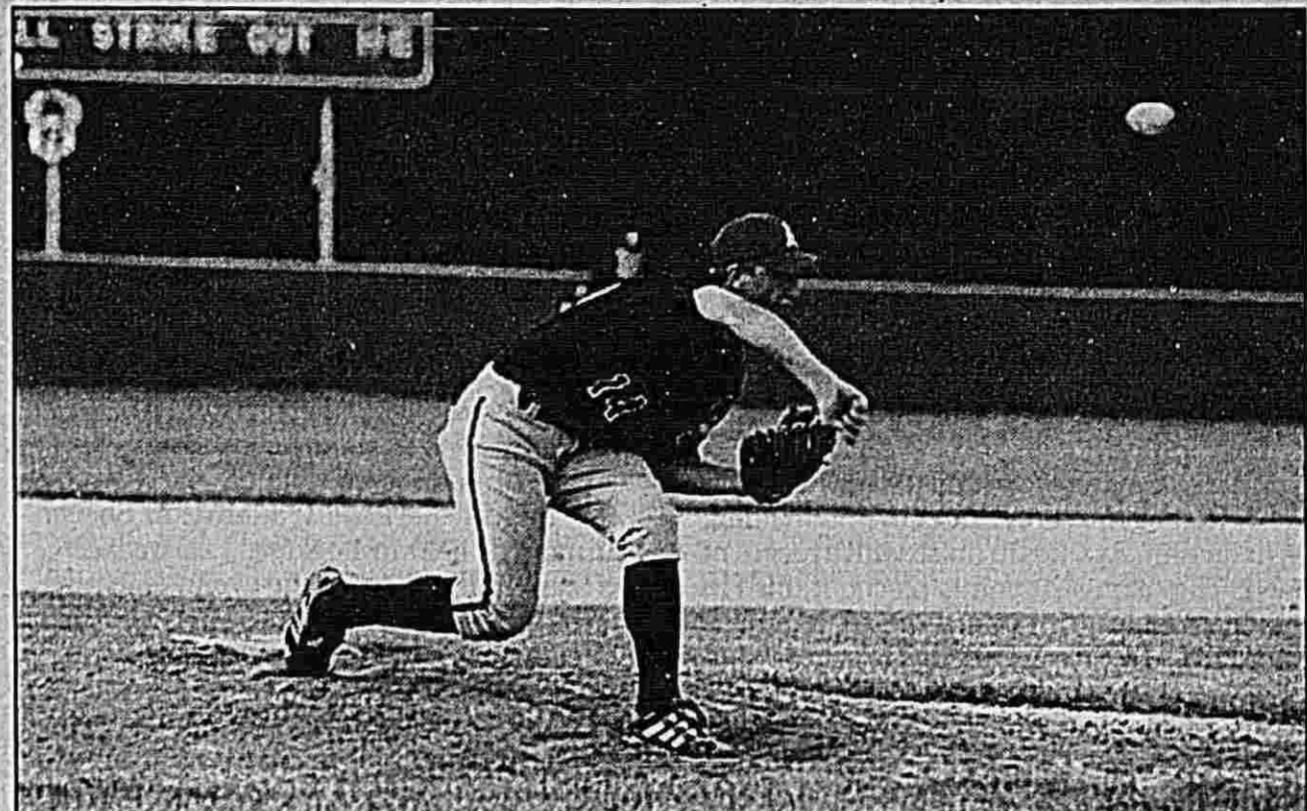

Bardy and Justin Seedoff are competing for the catching duties.

"They're both very solid," added Ferrell.

On the mound, junior-to-be Pat Feeney picked up the pitching victory.

"He struggled a little over the weekend," said Ferrell. "But he bounced back and got his curveball down today. He's also a very tough-minded kid who doesn't get rattled easily."

Meanwhile, the Sequoits returned the favor, taking the nightcap 3-1.

Feeney's RBI double in the top of the first gave Grayslake a brief 1-0 lead before the hosts put a 3-spot on the board in the third frame.

Chris Kocinski leadoff with a single and later scored on Chris Malec's base hit. The big and decisive blow came when winning pitcher Ryan Calanan helped his cause by smacking a two-run double.

On the hill, Calanan set down the Rams, firing a two-hitter with four strikeouts.

"He looked pretty sharp but still needs a little work on the mechanics," reflected Petty.

Malec finished 2-for-2 with the RBI double and runs scored and designated-hitter Scott Straub also went 2-for-2 with a run scored.

Feeney was 1-for-2 with the RBI double and Saul Molina 1-for-2 with a run scored to lead the Rams in the losing effort.

Grayslake will host Warren in two five-inning games Friday, July 14, beginning at 5 p.m. Both teams will compete in the state tournament, starting with regional action Monday, July 17.

Dynamo U-11 boys soccer claims first in YSSL

The Lindenhurst Dynamo U-11 boys soccer team earned first-place in the Red II Division of the Young Sportsmen Soccer League. The Dynamo defeated the Park Ridge Nightmares in the title game, 2-1. Vivek Gollapudi, Chris Hittenmiller, Scott Newman, Danny Pender, Jeremy Pohlman, Marek Smith and Andrew Wade led the offensive attack, passing and trapping the ball toward the goal while Brett McKenzie and Aaron Nichols finished off the Dynamo scoring drives.

The Dynamo defense of Matt McElhinney, Peter Niles, Matthew Reimer and John Werchek were outstanding, stopping all but one of the Nightmares drives. Andy Schultz and Chris Meyers were the keepers, making numerous saves to preserve the victory.

The Dynamo then went to Oswego for the Team Chicago Summer Classic. Andrew Schultz Chris Meyer shared keeper duties as the Dynamo posted a 3-1 victory over Compton United in the opener. Hittenmiller, Wade and Pender scored the goals while assists went to Nichols, Smith, Hittenmiller and Pohlman.

Scott Newman scored and Gollapudi each scored twice as the Dynamo cruised past the Oswego Panthers, 7-0 in the second game. Reimer and Meyer shared goalie duties.

The Dynamo then posted a 3-1 victory over Compton United. Smith put them on the board first with a score off a penalty kick. Hittenmiller and Pender added goals while Pender assisted on one and Nichols the other. Reimer then played outstanding in goal but the

Congratulations to the Dynamo on a fantastic 8-2 traveling season and good luck in the top division this fall! Special thanks should also go out to not only the players, but the parents and coaches Jeff Smith, Jerry Nichols and Bill Johnson for their time and hard work in developing each member of the Dynamo team.

Lake Villa Lighting to host 2000 AABC State Tournament

The Lake Villa Baseball Park will be hosting the 2000 American Amateur Baseball Congress (AABC) Willie Mays State Championships beginning Wednesday, July 12. This is the 10-year-old division, which will be competing for a berth to the four state regionals, which include Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin and Illinois. The regionals will be held in Rockford while the ultimate, the World Series of the AABC, will be held in Mississippi July 27-30.

This year's state championship will feature the top 14 teams from the state in a double-elimination format.

"The growth of AABC Baseball is the reason," said Rich Coles, Manager of the host Lake Villa Lightning. "AABC Baseball plays with all of the rules of high school ball, from leadoffs, balks and drop third strikes. A lot of kidding goes on between the different groups of baseball leagues in the area but we still reserve the right to refer to ours as real old-fashioned baseball."

Teams competing locally include squads from Wauconda, Vernon Hills and McHenry. There will also be two teams from Rockford, four from Springfield and four from the southern Illinois-based Metro Division.

The tournament began July 12 at 12:15 p.m. with ceremonial pitches being thrown by State Representative Tim Osmond, Lake Villa Mayor Frank Loffredo, plus two surprise guests. First-round games begin at 1 p.m. Second-round games will start at 9 a.m. Thursday, July 13 and run throughout the day. Thursday evening will feature an on-the-field cookout. In addition, the State Championship Homerun Derby will commence at 6:30 p.m., with one 'slugger' from each team vying for the title.

'Outback Steakhouse' of Gurnee will furnish and sponsor the on-the-field cookout. The General Manager and Partner of Gurnee's 'Outback Steakhouse' is Richard Callahan, a standout contributor to the youth's of our area. Callahan will be bringing the Hum-Vee and all of the Australian themes with him.

Friday, July 14, will feature a full day of games with the championship taking place Saturday, July 15. First and second-place finishers will move on to regional play in Rockford starting Wednesday, July 19, to play the best from Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Chicago White Sox training centers offers chance to polish skills

The Chicago White Sox Training Centers, week-long summer baseball camps traveling to more than 160 Illinois, northwest Indiana and Iowa locations this summer, offer top-notch youth baseball and softball instruction to kids ages 7-14.

Top collegiate coaches, full-time private instructors, former major leaguers, current professional coaches and scouts and hand-picked collegiate players instruct camp participants during an intensive week of fine-tuning fundamentals, learning and improving skills and gaining insight into the game from those who know it best.

Current White Sox staff and players make special guest appearances at various Training Centers throughout the summer.

Each training center costs $159 and runs Monday through Friday for 3 1/2 hours daily. Training Centers cover hitting, bunting, pitching and catching, infield and outfield training, baserunning, position play, throwing mechanics, stance, glove work and ball transfer. Physical and mental preparation, and specific ic game situations and strategies also are taught. In addition to providing individual instruction, the Training Centers also stress the importance of teamwork.

Every student who completes the program receives a Sox Training Center T-shirt, cap, bat bag and hitting book in addition to membership in the Silver and Black Pack, which includes six game tickets and a pre-game parade on the field at Comiskey Park.

At every White Sox home game, all children can compete in the skills competition by visiting the popular FUNdamentals area at Comiskey Park. This area opens 1 1/2 hours prior to each home game and remains open for 1 1/2 hours after the game starts. The FUNdamentals area is staffed by the professional staff of the White Sox Training Centers and features batting cages, pitching cages, a simulated basepath for running and a hitting training area.

Upcoming Training Center locations include Williams Park in Antioch July 17-21, Odom Field and Butler Lake Park in Libertyville July 24-28, Gene Hanson Field at The College of Lake County July 17, Community Park Field July 10-14 and Jaycee Park in Grayslake July 17-21.

For more information about the Training Centers or the Baseball Skills competition, call or e-mail the White Sox Training Centers at: White Sox Training Center Headquarters, call (630) PLAY BALL or e-mail: stc@chisox.com

U-9 Tornadoes finish season strong

The Lindenhurst Tornado boys U-9 travel soccer team completed a strong spring season in the Northern Illinois Soccer League's White-North Division. After starting the season 0-1-1, the Tornadoes lost only one of their remaining eight divisional games to finish with a record of 6-2-2. The team's 20 points placed it third in the division, just five points out of first place (held jointly by Crystal Lake and Elk Grove) and 14 points ahead of its nearest competitor.

The Tornadoes completed divisional play with a 5-3 victory over Club Resolution out of Sycamore, IL, followed by a 6-0 win over the Berwyn Blazers the following day.

For the season, Lindenhurst outscored its opponents 40-15. The team also improved greatly in its passing game, registering 65 percent more assists than the fall season.

The Tornadoes completed the year by competing in the Boys Watermelon Soccer Tournament held in Rockford last weekend. The team finished 2-2 in the event, defeating teams from Libertyville (3-1) and Berwyn (4-0), before losing to Bettendorf, Iowa 3-1 and 5-0 to a strong Springfield team.

Barat adds shooter to roster

Athletic director and head men's basketball Coach Chris Daleo, announced that former Carmel High School and College of Lake County star, Jim Nilles has received a basketball scholarship to play for Barat next fall.

"By signing Nilles, Barat will be able to install a pure shooter into our line-up. We have faced so many zone defenses this summer, I had to get a shooter and Nilles is the best in the area," said Daleo.

Nilles averaged over 25 points per contest last season, which placed him sixth in the country for scoring leaders. As a three point threat, Nilles averaged 41 percent from the arc and was second in his conference in three point shots made.

"I made the choice to come to Barat because of the style of play" said Nilles, "and because Coach Daleo really sold me on the team concept of basketball at Barat. I know my role and now I'm going to help them win some games."

Born to be wild

Through Motorcycle RiderCourse, operators learn to exhibit their wild sides—safely

By JULIE MURPHY
Assistant Editor

It doesn't take much to stir the spirit of motorcycle riders and rider wannabes. It can be anything from the scent of leather to the melodic hum or the bellowing roar of the engines powering these sleek machines that cause hearts to race and offer an appreciation for why dogs prefer to view the world with their heads craned outside of car windows.

While it's simple enough for licensed, motorcycle-owning riders to satisfy their desires, the wannabes often have a more difficult time relieving their itch. Hand in hand with the exhilarating dream of winding over rolling hills and cruising flat expanses is the ever-present understanding that motorcycles can be downright dangerous.

To help, the Motorcycle Safety Foundation offers a course at the College of Lake County through Northern Illinois University called the Motorcycle RiderCourse: Riding and Street Skills (MRC:RSS). The class is held most weekends from mid-spring through fall.

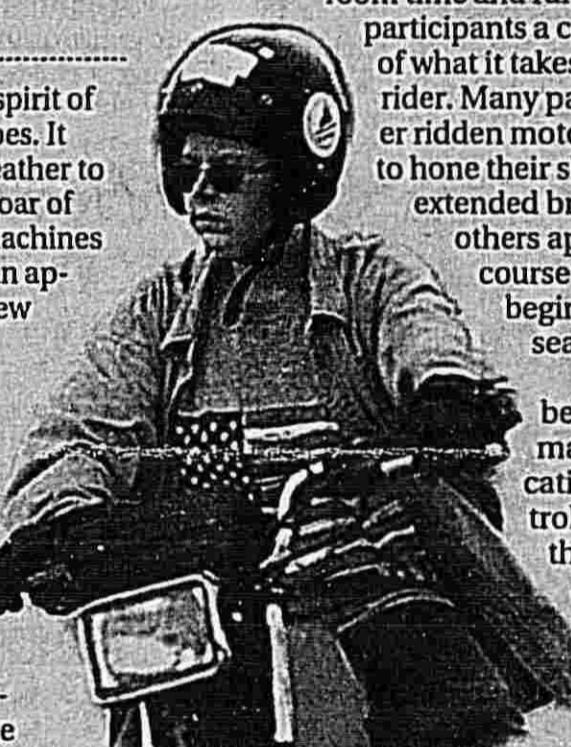

To complete the course, students must attend every session, pass a riding-skill evaluation and pass a written knowledge test. Successful completion of the course enables the participants to update their driver's licenses to include motorcycles without having to undergo additional testing.

Classes fill instantaneously upon posting of the dates on the Internet. Each week a number of patient and determined individuals are able to fill the slots of no shows, later comers (the doors lock promptly at 6 p.m. on the Friday evening of the course) and the unfortunate few who forgot to bring a valid driver's license to the first evening of the class.

One such individual was Michael Pierce. He showed up at 9:30 a.m. to wait for a slot for a class beginning at 6 p.m. He said, "I tried to get into a class three weeks ago. I was number six on the list of walk-ins, and the class took five. I figure if I'm going to take another night off of work, I'm going to make sure I get in."

With 20 people on the walk-in waiting list and 20 minutes to go before the doors are locked at 6 p.m., two women were turned away. Instructor Caryl Reaver said, "The hardest part of the job is having to turn people away who want to take the course. Here at College of Lake County we have the instructors and space to teach a double course (2 instructors are required for each 12-student course), and there are still always people we can't fit in."

The weekend-long course combines classroom time and range riding, thus giving participants a comprehensive idea of what it takes to be a motorcycle rider. Many participants have never ridden motorcycles, others wish to hone their skills after taking an extended break from riding. Still others appreciate a refresher course each spring at the beginning of the riding season.

Though the course begins with basic information such as the location of all of the controls on a motorcycle, there is plenty of valuable information for even the most seasoned rider. According to the course workbook, over 90 percent of the motorcycle riders involved in accidents are either self-taught or learned to ride from family or friends.

Key to the course is teaching people to manage, and therefore minimize, the elements of risk associated with motorcycle riding. The course emphasizes that the physical and mental preparation of the rider is as important as wearing a good helmet and making sure the motorcycle is mechanically sound.

Part of this management includes gaining an understanding of individual rider abilities, motorcycle performance and the environmental attributes such as road condition and visibility. The workbook says, "Safe riding is also a matter of attitude, and only you can provide that."

Students are taught the importance of SIPDE—scan, identify, predict, decide, execute—which is an acronym for the mental process used to make judgments and take action. Pierce, a professional driver for UPS, said, "Some of the same rules are fixed to the dashboard of the tractor-trailer I drive. For me, it has already become my habit."

A good portion of the course's material focuses on safety equipment. Though Illinois state law leaves the choice of whether to wear a helmet up to the individual rider, the instruction and materials state that helmet effectiveness has been confirmed by responsible studies. It dispels myths that "...helmets break necks, block vision, impair hearing, cause overheating..."

Riders are instructed to look for the DOT (U.S. Department of Transportation) or the SNELL (Snell Memorial Foundation) sticker on

Vacation snapshots: Packed, pecked and pickled

When you take as few family vacations as we do, it's all the more important to record everything on film. And darned if I didn't do just that, as evidenced by the groaning of our friends who made the mistake of answering "Sure, let's see them," when I asked if they wanted to see pictures from our trip to the beautiful Olympic Peninsula of Washington state.

But even 13 rolls of film (or 324 photographs, half of which picture a family member standing by various large trees) cannot fully capture the wonderful memories we will carry with us for a lifetime, mostly in our Visa card balance. And for sure this column is not long enough to describe it all in detail...lucky for you.

Here are some highlights:
Talk about hen-pecked

Our first two days on the Olympic Peninsula were spent visiting my oldest son Will, who lives there with his girlfriend Kate on a 25-acre farm, where Kate grows organic vegetables and Will raises chickens. I continue to enjoy the irony of this situation; growing up, Will was as outdoorsy as Woody Allen.

Still, I tried to take his new life seriously, dutifully asking him questions about his profession.

"So, why doesn't your rooster have any feathers on his butt?"

"Well, before I got him, he was in charge of a flock of 40 hens, and he just couldn't handle them. We only have 10 chickens, so I think he'll do better."

"But how do you know your chickens won't take one look at his hen-pecked behind and figure he's a pushover? Maybe you should have bought him a toupee. Or in his case, a poupee."

"Thanks for visiting, Mom. Come back again in a decade or two."

Speaking of birds, this one was a scream

One of the best spots to view the Olympic Mountains is called Hurricane Ridge, accessible via a 17-mile drive up into the mountains.

LIFE'S A BEAR

Donna Abear

About half way, we stopped at a lookout when a wild bird suddenly landed on my son Sean's arm. Next the bird flew over and landed on our son Brandon's arm. This might have been a delightful memory, except for one thing—the bird did not land on our daughter's arm.

For the remaining 10 miles, we heard this:

"Waaaaah! The birdie didn't land on MY arm. Waaaaaaah! I wanted the birdie to land on MY arm."

"But, Sammie," soothed her brother. "We didn't TRY to make the bird land on us. It just did."

"That's why I HATE MY BROTHERS! WAAAAAAAH!"

Lions and Abears, Oh my!

A large portion of Washington's Olympic Peninsula consists of the Olympic National Park. The park has retained its wild, pristine beauty, as evidenced by the pamphlets the rangers hand you as you enter, which include details on how to avoid dangerous encounters with pristine beauty like, say, mountain lions.

The pamphlets recommend that you make a lot of noise to let the animals know you're there. However, this tends to put a damper on your ability to enjoy the peace and serenity of the wilderness:

"Wow, HONEY! Look at the SIZE OF THESE TREES! I'm glad there are no MOUNTAIN LIONS IN THEM!"

Smells like tourists

For one week of our vacation, Will and Kate graciously offered to entertain our two youngest children while hubby and I enjoyed time alone. So we did what most parents do when given the chance: we fled the country.

But only for an afternoon, when we took a ferryboat to Victoria, British Columbia. As temporarily child-less vacationers, we decided to order a drink on the boat ride to toast our freedom. What we didn't know is that boats don't seem to have room for both life preservers and shot glasses. The first mate gave us drinks, all right—filling our glasses full of vodka. To make matters worse, the captain inquired as to how many drinks had been sold this trip and, when the first-mate told him "just two," the captain instructed him to give us two more, gratis.

By the time we reached port in British Columbia, we had trouble giving serious answers to the Canadian customs officer.

"Do you have any alcohol or tobacco products on you?" he asked.

Mr. Bear and I exchanged bloodshot glances and snickered. "Nope, but we have plenty in us."

The officer wrinkled his nose. "I know. I can smell it."

Obviously, the Canadian tourist trade could smell us, too...they relieved us of all our Canadian money in about an hour. We spent the remaining three hours there wandering around the harbor, waiting to board the boat and singing our own foggy version of Canada's anthem:

"Oh, Canada...duh!"

Research trip set for genealogy society

The members of Burlington Genealogical Society are planning a week-long research trip to Salt Lake City, Utah, October 19 through November 5. Home of the Family History Library, the world's largest genealogical library, Salt Lake is wonderful for genealogists.

To help prepare for the trip, Debbie Bluett, past president of Burlington Genealogical Society, will be the guest speaker at the Wednesday, July 19 BGS meeting, to be held at 7 p.m. in the Burlington Public Library, at the corner of Pine and Jefferson St.

Having recently returned from her third research trip to Salt Lake, Debbie will focus on ways to make the most of the time spent in the research library. Debbie explains, "The Family History Center has a phenomenal microfilm collection including census, vital records, church records, naturalization and passenger lists. You can research census records for Burlington, Racine County, Wisconsin one minute and collect a copy of the church record for your great-great-grandmother's christening in Germany the next. You'll love the versatility of the type of research you can do. Making use of the Internet and local Family History Centers, a person can do much of the preliminary research at home and concentrate on making copies of the documents in Salt Lake City when you get there."

A resident of Delavan Township, Debbie Bluett has searched for information about her ancestors for over 20 years and has produced family history books on the Bluett, Kozak and Willich families and co-produced a family history of the Koldeway family with her cousin, Elaine Koldeway Zarnstorff of Genoa City, who is also a member of the Burlington Genealogical Society.

Anyone interested in family research and genealogy are welcome to attend our regular meetings which are held the third Wednesday of each month. For more information, contact Marion Getka at (262) 763-6981 (Racine County) or Marilyn Romani at (262) 728-2225 (Walworth County).

Park Bandshell re-dedication

The Waukegan Park District announced that the Washington Park Bandshell re-dedication as marked in the June is Parks Month Calendars for Friday, June 23rd has been postponed to Friday, July 21st at 10 a.m. The event was changed because of the weather related delays in completing the project on time.

On the re-dedication date, the public is invited to come and see the beautiful new paved pathways and other enhancements to the park and the bandshell. Illinois State Representative Susan Garrett, the legislator who obtained the $110,000 grant to fund the improvements, will be on hand as well as other dignitaries. Washington Park is located on the corner of Washington Street and Park Avenue in Waukegan.

The Waukegan Park District, encompassing 46 neighborhood and community parks with more than 170 acres of land, serves the culturally diverse community of Waukegan through its traditional and non-traditional parks/sports programming for the entire family as well as leisure programming for senior adults.

Park District programming also encompasses professional music, dance, theatre and visual arts instruction through the Jack Benny Center for the Arts, cultural enrichment through the Waukegan Symphony and Concert Chorus, the Bowen Park Opera and Theatre Companies, and other quality educational, historical and craft programs through the Bowen Heritage Circle.

For more information, contact the Waukegan Park District at 360-4826.

The Magnificent Mile Art Festival

What better venue could you possibly ask for to host a juried fine art festival than one surrounded by enormous skyscrapers, exotic restaurants, a beautiful river and upscale shopping? The 9th Annual Chicago Tribune Magnificent Mile Art Festival will be returning to North Michigan Avenue on Friday, July 14 and will continue until Sunday, July 16. Award-winning art exhibits and live musical entertainment combine to create the perfect weekend celebration.

Over 200 accomplished artists will fill Pioneer Court. Talented painters, sculptors, potters, jewelers and photographers will travel from all across the country to participate in this top-rated festival. With items ranging from a $20 pair of hand-made silver earrings to a $30,000 life-size metal sculpture, this art affair appeals to art lovers of all ages, tastes and budgets.

Another advantage of this festival is the rare opportunity to personally meet the creating artists. Having the artist present at the booth allows spectators the chance to commission work and have an original, one-of-a-kind piece. Also, without gallery commissions to pay, the artwork here is sold at a much lower, more affordable price.

In addition to fine art exhibits, the festival offers live musical entertainment.

The festival is located in Pioneer Court on North Michigan Avenue at the Chicago Tribune Tower opposite the Wrigley Building and adjacent to the NBC building, WGN and the Chicago River. For information call (815) 937-0920 or (954) 472-3755.

the inside or outside of the helmet. Manufacturers voluntarily submit helmets for testing under SNELL criteria that are more stringent than DOT.

Helmets are not the only safety equipment discussed. Proper jackets help prevent dehydration and hypothermia even in warm weather. One fact many students find astonishing is that a motorcyclist enjoying a ride on 65-degree day can experience a chilling effect equivalent to 33 degrees when traveling at speeds between 45-55 mph.

On the riding range, instructors first demonstrate the exercises that are to be performed and then coach the students through them. These exercises teach riding posture, turning, shifting, stopping and swerving.

Tips are given for improving technique. Encouragement, peppered with doses of tough love, are part of the course. To one rider learning to navigate a curve, Reaver said, "Very good. Now you've got the lean."

To another he emphasized, "Next time, I want you to look before you start your turn. Don't be well into the turn and then look. Also, you need to stay on the throttle through the turn."

Once the riding portion of the test has been administered, and just prior to taking the written test, students learn some sobering facts about alcohol and riding. According to the course material, 50 percent of all riders killed in motorcycle accidents had been drinking. Of those, only one-third had a blood-alcohol concentration above the legal limits. Additionally, injuries occur in 90 percent of alcohol-involved motorcycle accidents, while only 33 percent occur in alcohol-involved automobile accidents.

Before releasing the students from the course, all of whom passed, the instructors stressed "practice, practice, practice." Rider education goes beyond basic skills. Riders need experience so they can deal with the once-in-a-lifetime situations which all hope will never happen.

A 1998 Motorcycle RiderCourse graduate said in a later interview, "I remember one of my instructors saying, 'Hopefully, this instruction will come back to you if you are ever faced with a once-in-a-lifetime situation.' Today I was riding along a rural road when a deer jumped out of the woods and crossed my path. I swerved left, clipping the deer. Had I swerved right, I probably wouldn't be here talking to you now. My bike went into a wobble and I consciously sat deep and tried not to overreact which would make the situation worse. I was able to steady the bike and pull over and stop. It was the best possible conclusion there could have been. My bike was barely damaged, and to my knowledge, the deer lived."

Follow the yellow brick road

The Papai Players will present "The Wizard of Oz" at the Milk Pail, located just north of I-90 on Route 25, East Dundee. Bring a blanket and come join Dorothy and her friends at the outdoor theatre and experience a magical day in the country close to home.

Host families needed for exchange students

World Heritage, a non-profit, public benefit organization, is seeking local host families for high school boys and girls from Spain, Mexico, France, Germany, Thailand, Brazil, Japan and the NIS (Newly Independent States of the former Soviet Union) coming to his area for the upcoming school year. These personable and academically select exchange students speak English, are bright, curious and eager to learn about this country through living as part of a family and attending high school. This is a wonderful opportunity to share in the fostering of inter-cultural friendships.

The exchange students arrive from their home country shortly before school begins and return at the end of the school year. Each World Heritage student is fully insured, brings his or her own personal spending money and expects to bear his or her share of household responsibilities, as well as being included in normal family activities and lifestyles. At the same time the student will be teaching their newly adopted host family about their own culture and language. The students are well screened and qualified by World Heritage. Families may select the younger of their choice from student applications, photo collages and biographical essays. Once paired, students and families are encouraged to begin corresponding prior to the student's arrival.

Those persons interested in obtaining more information about becoming a host family for a semester or an academic year or anyone interested in becoming an exchange students should contact World Heritage's local representative, Diana Owens at 546-1484, or call 1-800-785-9040 or visit the web site at www.world-heritage.org.

SPECIAL EVENT

Antioch to host MegaFest

There is something for everyone at MegaFest, a four-day summer festival held in downtown Antioch July 20-23rd. Formerly known as the "Taste of Antioch," this festival has grown over the years to now include a carnival, classic car show, soapbox derby, as well as great comedy and musical entertainment, plus four days of shopping at Antioch's Maxwell Street/Sidewalk Sales.

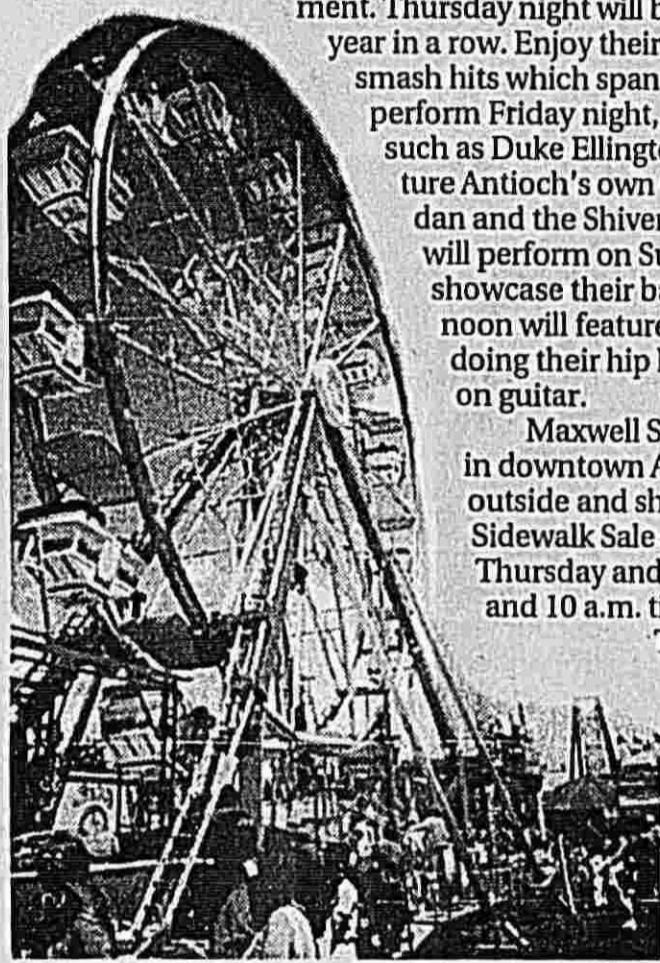

MegaFest will be held on Toft Street in downtown Antioch. Various Antioch restaurants will be participating in the festival, as they did in past years' Tastes. The Chamber of Commerce has worked hard to bring a wonderful variety of activities for all ages.

The classic car show and soapbox derby are new to the event. Many eager car enthusiasts are participating in the car show. Along with this, Antioch area residents and civic groups have been building soapbox cars to "race" through downtown Antioch. The derby will be held on Saturday, July 22, between 3 and 4 p.m. down Main St. Entries are being accepted until the day of the event. The rules are: you build it, you push it, you steer it. Youth and adult categories will receive awards.

Evenings during MegaFest will provide an array of great entertainment. Thursday night will bring BBI's return to Antioch for the 3rd year in a row. Enjoy their specially costumed '70s show and smash hits which span from the '60s to the '90s. Bopology will perform Friday night, blending old time swing from the greats such as Duke Ellington to Frank Sinatra. Saturday will feature Antioch's own Grease Band, following with Lynne Jordan and the Shivers, back by popular demand. More acts will perform on Sunday as Antioch brings local teens to showcase their bands under the big top tent. The afternoon will feature Nick Summers and the Mad Elements doing their hip hop dances, plus Wojtek Krupka singing on guitar.

Maxwell Street Days/Sidewalk Sales is a tradition in downtown Antioch. Merchants bring their wares outside and showcase them at unbelievable savings. Sidewalk Sale shopping hours are 9 a.m. till 8 p.m. on Thursday and Friday, 9 a.m. till 6 p.m. on Saturday and 10 a.m. till 4 p.m. on Sunday.

The goal of MegaFest is to provide family activities for all to enjoy. Hours for the MegaFest are 11 a.m. till 11 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 20, 21 and 22 and 11 a.m. till 6 p.m. on Sunday, July 23. The carnival, provided by Fantasy Amusements, will operate till 10 p.m. on Sunday. Call the Antioch Chamber of Commerce for additional information at 395-

Art Institute presents Egyptian art exhibition

One of the most important international presentations of Egyptian art and culture in recent times arrives at The Art Institute of Chicago when "Pharaohs of the Sun: Akhenaten, Nefertiti, Tutankhamen" opens at the museum July 17. The first major exhibition of Egyptian art to travel to the city in more than 20 years, "Pharaohs of the Sun" is expected to draw at least 250,000 visitors during its run in the Art Institute's Regenstein Hall, the Daniel F. and Ada L. Rice Building, through September 24. Dated, timed tickets are required for the exhibition and are available at the museum, through the museum's web site (www.artic.com), and by phone at (312) 930-4040, as well as at Illinois Ticketmaster outlets.

"Pharaohs of the Sun" depicts a vivid portrait of the Amarna period—the revolutionary age of Akhenaten, Nefertiti and Tutankhamen. The exhibition evokes the Amarna Age with more than 250 works, including both monumental and small-scale sculptures, as well as reliefs, ceramics and household items from public and private collections around the world.

A 320-page exhibition catalog accompanies the exhibition. With 400 color photographs, 250 black and white illustrations, and 14 essays—as well as a chronology of Ancient Egypt, maps and a glossary—the book brings to life the city of Amarna and its rulers.

A 35-minute audio tour of the exhibition is available either purchased in advance by phone, at the ticket terminals, or at the exhibition entrance.

There is also an audio tour for families and children (especially recommended for children 7-12), through which kids travel back in time to meet two young journalists from ancient Egypt.

An audio-visual introduction to the exhibition—free with exhibition admission—runs continuously in the audio/video space to the west of the exhibition entrance.

Ticket prices are $10 Monday, Wednesday and Thursday; $5 Tuesday; and $15 Friday through Sunday. Phone orders require the use of a credit card—Visa, Mastercard, American Express, or Discover—and there is a $4 convenience fee per ticket, as well as a $2.50 handling fee per order. Children under 6 are admitted free.

Also, a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts has made tickets for Tuesday evenings available for free. These free tickets may be obtained in advance only at the Art Institute and only while they last—first come, first served.

For tickets or information, call (312) 930-4040.

All-American 'Patriot' gets to heart of war by showing its effects on family

The rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air... Director Roland Emmerich has a new all-American classic with "The Patriot."

Set in 1776, the story focuses on the trials of one South Carolina family, led by patriarch Benjamin Martin (wonderfully portrayed by Mel Gibson), during the American Revolution. The story goes much deeper than the war, though, as Benjamin declares at the assembly in Charleston when he is challenged by fellow landowners, "I'm a parent, I haven't got the luxuries of principles."

Benjamin abstains from voting, and when the vote of the assembly is to support the war effort, his oldest son Gabriel signs up to fight—against his father's wishes. Played by Heath Ledger, Gabriel is constantly compared to his father by Benjamin's friends. The young patriot insults his father, takes up arms and is gone for two years.

Ledger's portrayal of the young soldier is wonderful, looking much different from his last starring role as Patrick Verona in "Ten Things I Hate About You." This young actor is destined for great things and many times steals the scene from Gibson with his passionate representation of Gabriel's ideals.

Benjamin, on the other hand, chooses to stay home with six of his seven children, since his wife recently died. Five boys and two girls certainly makes for a full house. When their father won't fight, some of the boys question him about his past infamous conquest at Fort Wilderness during the French and Indian War. Obviously scarred by the experience, Benjamin refuses to indulge the children and takes the stance to remain neutral.

The battle moves into his front yard, with the wide-eyed children watching it all. Benjamin then harbors both injured Red Coats and Rebels on his front porch. He is driven to get involved against the crown when nasty Brit Colonel Tavington (devilishly portrayed by Jason Isaacs) hurts the one thing he holds dear—his family.

Throughout the film the audience sees behind enemy lines and hears discussions of strategy. This adds much depth to the storyline and urges audience members to take sides against the Brits, led by Lord General Cornwallis (played by Tom Wilkinson).

"The Patriot" has some horribly bloody scenes, many of which occur directly in front of the children in the movie. Children even participate in the war, showing what a different war the American Revolution was. About a half-hour into the film, the graphic nature of the battle scenes made me question if I would be able to bear the remainder of the two-hour, 40-minute movie. What kept me interested, however, was the beautiful story of a father and his family and how they were going to survive the war.

Serving together, Benjamin learns a lot from his idealistic son. The depths of Martin's character are revealed as he experiences loss, loyalty and a sense of duty.

Intricately woven throughout the film are questions that remain unanswered, such as why would a man remain loyal to the crown and kill his neighbors? And why do men feel they can justify death?

The movie ends five years after it began, leaving audience members feel as if they have been through the war themselves. Masterfully written by Robert Rodat ("Saving Private Ryan," "Fly Away Home"), it teaches lessons of trust, tolerance and courage to those who are willing to learn from its story.

For the story and the wonderful actors who bring it to life, I give this movie four popcorn boxes out of five.

The Adventures of Rocky and Bullwinkle

Faithful followers of this duo would be better off spending the price of admission petitioning a cable company to host a Rocky and Bullwinkle marathon weekend. However, small children who like anything animated, and who would be too young to understand any of the typical Rocky and Bullwinkle humor (had director Des McAnuff opted to include any), will probably enjoy this movie. One popcorn box. -Julie Murphy

Chicken Run

This film's co-directors Nick Park and Peter Lord have not dis-

NOW PLAYING

The Adventures of Rocky and Bullwinkle
pointed. Borrowing unabashedly from "The Great Escape" and "Stalag 17," each frame of this claymation feature is filled with details both charming and entertaining. Yankee chicken Rocky (Mel Gibson) helps a flock led by Ginger (Julia Sawalha) escape death by pot pie. The characters are, as with all Park's creations, rich in expression and personality. "Chicken Run" is destined to become a family classic. Five popcorn boxes. -Brenda Beitscher

Gladiator

The story of a former general fighting the corrupt Roman government, "Gladiator" drags on as it goes from Maximus's (Russell Crowe) fall from grace to the logical conclusion. The storyline suffers because there is just not enough behind it to hold the audience's attention. Long stretches of repetitive dialogue are sprinkled with the gladiator action sequences that were all shown in the trailers. The fight scenes are gripping, though short and few and far between. Three popcorn boxes. -Tim O'Donnell

Gone In 60 Seconds

To best enjoy "Gone In 60 Seconds," take the bus or drive the beater and leave the good car locked in the garage at home. Randall "Memphis" Raines, played by Nicholas Cage, is a retired car thief of legendary notoriety. He abandoned his life of crime long ago, but gets sucked back into his old life after his kid brother (Giovanni Ribisi) botches a high stakes caper. In spite of flaws with the plot and character development, the movie is an enjoyable way to spend a couple of hours. Three and a half popcorn boxes. -Julie Murphy

Mission: Impossible 2

It's amazing how utterly dissimilar "Mission: Impossible 2" is from the original, despite both featuring scripts by Robert Towne. Maybe John Woo makes all the difference. Woo is famous for his slow-motion action sequences, which are prevalent in "M: 12." The movie, starring Tom Cruise as secret agent Ethan Hunt, is filled with numerous action scenes including shoot-outs and motorcycle chases, which are some of the best action sequences ever seen. Four and a half popcorn boxes. -Rob Backus

HOROSCOPE

Aries – March 21/April 20

While your main focus is yourself this week, don't ignore the needs of a loved one. He or she is in a difficult situation, and you can help — if you want to. Don't let this person down. That special someone takes you out for a night on the town late in the week. Enjoy yourself!

Taurus – April 21/May 21

Don't let your pride get in the way when you realize that you make a mistake this week, Taurus. Instead of arguing how you didn't create the problem, just accept responsibility, and try to resolve the situation. Those involved will be impressed with your efforts. Leo plays an important role on Wednesday.

Gemini – May 22/June 21

You have a specific goal that you want to reach this week, Gemini. Don't let those around you try to stop you from achieving it. They don't know what is important to you, and they certainly can't keep you from working diligently. So, stay focused, and you're sure to make great strides. Another Gemini is involved.

Cancer – June 22/July 22

Your good mood of the last few days dwindles early in the week when a close friend tells you some bad news. Don't get too upset. The situation isn't as bad as it initially seems. You can overcome these minor obstacles if you work hard. So, get moving. Turn to that special someone for motivation if you need it.

Leo – July 23/August 23

Don't let your arrogance get the best of you when you meet with a business associate, Leo. This person knows how diligently you work. However, he or she also knows that you don't do it alone. Give credit to those who deserve it, and you'll make a lot of progress yourself.

Virgo – Aug 24/Sept 22

A loved one gets you thinking about an old flame. While you wonder what this person is doing now, don't try to contact him or her. There is a reason why you two are no longer a couple. Don't forget about that. Instead, focus your attention on those close to you. They always will be there for you.

Libra – Sept 23/Oct 23

An acquaintance tries to pull the wool over your eyes early in the week, Libra. Try not to let that happen, because it will make you look foolish. Don't believe everything this person tells you. If you think about it, you'll realize that it can't be as easy as he or she says.

Scorpio – Oct 24/Nov 22

Stand your ground when that special someone makes outrageous demands on you this week, Scorpio. This person isn't seeing the entire picture. Try to make him or her understand the whole scenario. Then, he or she won't be so domineering. It will take a good bit of effort, but you certainly are up to the challenge.

Sagittarius – Nov 23/Dec 21

When it comes to confronting a close friend about a personal matter, don't be nervous. You have to get to the bottom of the situation, and the only way to do that is to talk with him or her. This person is willing to tell you everything — all you have to do is ask. Capricorn plays a key role.

Capricorn – Dec 22/Jan 20

While you want to make progress in your professional life, don't get so ambitious that you alienate your co-workers. You know that they help you when you need it. So, don't forget about them now. Work with them, not against them, to get ahead. Gemini plays an important role.

Aquarius – Jan 21/Febr 18

Don't bite off more than you can chew this week. There is a lot to be done, and you can't do it all yourself. The sooner you realize this, the happier you'll be. Being too ambitious only will create a lot of problems for you. Turn to loved ones for advice if you need it. They have your best interest at heart.

Pisces – Feb 19/March 20

While you would like to help a loved one in trouble, don't. Getting involved in this mess only will create a lot of problems for you, and you don't need that right now. You're already trying to juggle too many things. This person will understand.

Paddling in the Park festival brings water fun to Twin Lakes

Paddling in the Park, the 8th annual festival for canoes and kayaks, will be held July 22-23 at the Twin Lakes Recreation Area in Palatine. Hours of the event are Saturday, 9 a.m.-6 p.m., and Sunday, 9 a.m.-4 p.m. This fun-filled weekend of paddling activities is for everyone, novice or experienced. No matter the age, people who love to be outdoors, are active and enjoy fresh air, will find a paddlesport to suit their lifestyles. In 1999, over 1000 people enjoyed the on-water activities.

Paddling in the Park is sanctioned by the American Canoe Association. Major sponsors are the MW Division of the American Canoe Association in cooperation with the Salt Creek Rural Park District and Subaru of America. Paddling in the Park is also supported by The College of DuPage, Northern Illinois University and Northeastern University who provide boats used in the instructional program.

Paddling in the Park offers introductory two hour clinics taught by ACA certified instructors in solo and tandem canoeing, freestyle and whitewater canoeing, river and sea kayaking. The event also features canoe sailing and marathon canoes. A historic voyageur encampment and paddles in a 26-foot birch bark canoe replica recreate the Midwest's canoeing history. The public can also group paddle in a reproduction of a 2000-year-old, Chinese Dragon Boat from the American Dragon Boat Association in Iowa. For the kids, we have a children's paddling playground sponsored by the Lincoln Park Boat Club.

Paddling in the Park also features the area's leading paddlesport retailers and the nation's top canoe and kayak builders. The public can test paddle the latest canoe, river and sea kayak designs from these vendors to find out about the differences in materials, hull designs and price until the one is found that best fits each new paddler's or family's needs. Our retailers will also have the necessary paddling gear such as life jackets (PFD's), paddles and more as no one is admitted on the lake without a properly fitted PFD. Waivers are required for on-water activities.

Knowledgeable paddlers offer walking tours among our vendors' displays for anyone interested in finding out all there is to know about boat design, materials, types of craft, and much more.

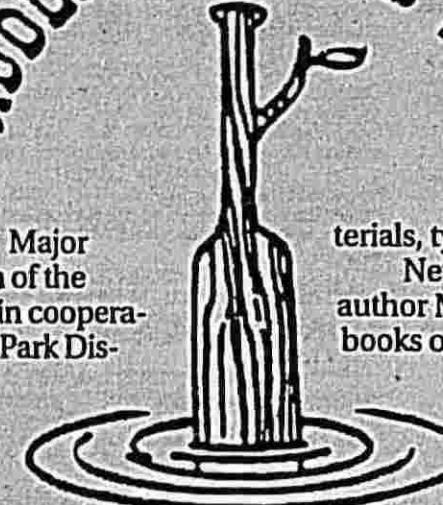

New this year to our event is known author Mike Svob to talk about this books on Paddling Wisconsin and Illinois Rivers and autograph these. Bear Paw Inn will sponsor a whitewater kayak playground featuring the latest river kayak designs.

Representatives from many paddling clubs and conservation organizations will be present for the public to visit with. A raffle has great prizes for the lucky winners, including a kayak donated by Perception.

Admission to Paddling in the Park is free. Each two-hour clinic is $10, $5 for children 10-17 year old (with adult); includes test paddling of boats all day. Test paddling of boats alone is $5, valid all day. Group paddles in Dragon Boat and Voyageur Canoe is free, pre-registration for groups only. Call 328-0145 to make arrangements for groups.

Paddling in the Park takes place July 22-23 at the Twin Lakes Recreation Area in Palatine, a Northwest Chicago suburb, near Route 53 and Palatine Road, just north of I-90 and west of I-294. Details: 238-0145 (before July 21), then 934-6050 or visit the website at www.chicagopaddling.org/pip/.

COUNTY DIGEST

Hainesville Rd. slows down

County Board member Larry Leafblad (R-Grayslake Dist. 6) announced a decrease in the speed limit to 35 mph on Hainesville Rd. from Shorewood Dr. to Maple Ave. The change from 40 mph along this half-mile stretch comes in response to Edwards subdivision residents who feared for the safety of their children boarding school buses.

Checkpoints net citations

The safety and sobriety checkpoints set up by Lake County law enforcement agencies on Independence Day weekend netted quite a few citations. On July 1 and July 3, the Lake County Sheriff's Office, the Grayslake and Round Lake/Hainesville Police Depts. and Illinois State Police issued a combined total of 219 citations. The majority were issued for seat belt violations. There was a total of 13 DUI arrests and eight narcotic arrests during the operations that were conducted near Rtes. 120 and 134 in Hainesville, and Rtes. 120 and 83 in Grayslake.

Take a bird walk

The Lake County Forest Preserve is offering a Sunday Bird Walk on July 16 at the Wetlands Demonstration Project on Wadsworth Rd. just east of Rte. 41. The walk is held from 7-9 a.m., and is open to adults and families with children 10 years or older. The cost is $3 for Lake County residents and $4 for non-residents. Reservations can be made by calling 968-3321.

Disaster help offered

State Treasurer Judy Baar Topinka toured a flood-damaged neighborhood in northern Illinois and announced the Disaster Recovery Loan Program to offer low-interest loans to help flood victims get back on their feet quickly. The counties of Lake, McHenry, Rock Island, Stephenson, Whiteside and Winnebago were declared disaster areas by Gov. Ryan in late June, triggering the Treasurer's loan program, which is operated through local financial institutions. For more information about the Disaster Recovery Loan Program, contact your local financial institution or Topinka's office at (312) 814-1788.

Survivors of school shootings host workshops

Columbine, Thurston high school massacre survivors talk in Barrington

By SANDY HARTOGH
Staff Reporter

In May of 1998, the nation was stunned by the shooting rampage of a high school student who killed his parents and then opened fire at Thurston High School in Springfield, Ore., killing two students and injuring 25 others.

Almost one year later, the shooting deaths of 12 students and one teacher at Columbine High School in Littleton, Colo. made headline news as the worst school shooting in the nation's history.

July 23 and July 29 will bring survivors of both shootings to the community of Barrington to speak at two community workshops entitled "Peace in Our Schools" to be held at Health World located at 1301 S. Grove Ave. in Barrington.

Mike Sheehan, who is the student council president at Columbine High School will offer July 23 workshop attendees first-person views on the increasing phenomenon of school violence. The workshop will be held from 3-7 p.m.

Mike Fisher, a teacher at Thurston High School, will be doing the same for those who attend the July 29 workshop from 9 a.m.-1 p.m.

"Peace in Our Schools" was formed by people in the Barrington community in an effort to address school violence," said Health World Marketing Manager Melissa Durante. "We are encouraging educators, parents and students from all communities to attend. No one is immune to violence. It can happen anywhere."

Anywhere includes the hometown, close-knit community of Columbine that Durante said is very

$129 million not enough to ease congestion

By SANDY HARTOGH
Staff Reporter

A $129 million five-year highway improvement plan by the Lake County Division of Transportation has received a nod of approval from the county board's Public Works and Transportation Committee.

Priority projects for the 2000-2004 Highway Improvement Program include Rehabilitation, Operational and Capacity Projects. The Rehabilitation Projects will consume approximately $50 million of the funding with updating of existing roads, bridges, and traffic signal controllers. The Operational Projects will require $29 million to alleviate bottlenecks by adding left turn lanes and coordinated traffic signals. Capacity Projects will address the widening and construction of roads to the tune of $49 million.

Despite a $20 million increase in improvement funds this year, Bonnie Thomson Carter (R-Inglewood Dist. 5), who chairs the committee, said that $138 million beyond the program funds are needed to alleviate traffic congestion on county roads.

Martin Buehler, Director of the Lake County Division of Transportation, said the additional funding has been an ongoing "subject of legislation" since April 1999. He noted that a public survey is planned to poll county residents on where they think the funding might come from. The poll will also gauge voter support for a potential referendum.

Legislative Bill initiated by Warren Township becomes state law

By SANDY HARTOGH
Staff Reporter

A state legislative bill initiated by Warren Township officials has been signed into law with the help of state Rep. Andrea Moore (R-Libertyville).

The first-of-its-kind legislation allows residents in unincorporated areas to form a "special service area" in order to obtain a county imposed tax levy for private road repairs. The law affects over 1,400 townships statewide.

"Considering that very few bills got out of the House this year, this is quite an accomplishment," stated Warren Township Supervisor Sue Simpson, who is "very happy" about her first piece of legislation that was helped along by local and state officials including the Lake County Division of Transportation, the Illinois Dept. of Transportation, the Township Officials of Illinois and state Sen. Bill Peterson (R-Prairie View).

The idea for the new law was born out of the Gages Lake area where three subdivisions were built in the early 1920s as summer cottages. At that time, Simpson said no one thought the private roads leading into Dady & Decker, Allan Farms and Idlewild would be used year-round.

The unforeseen constant use of the roads has led to deterioration, and the homeowners do not have the

County steamrolls into Rollins Rd. extension, Phase II planning

By SANDY HARTOGH
Staff Reporter

County board members signaled their approval for Phase II of the Rollins Rd. extension from Rte. 45 to Rte. 132 (Grand Ave.). Members voted 17-3 in favor of the second phase despite the appeals of opposing resident Laurie DeMeyer, who believes the county should wait for the Illinois Dept. of Transportation to make the first move to alleviate traffic congestion within that area by widening Rte. 45 and making intersection improvements.

The purpose of the project is to help reduce traffic jams at the intersections of Rtes. 45 and 132, as well as Rte. 45 and Rollins Rd. by extending Rollins nine-tenths of a mile east to Grand Ave. According to Martin Buehler, director of the Lake County Division of Transportation, the project will serve to eliminate the "Z" turning movement that eastbound motorists on Rollins Rd. experience in order to continue east on Rte. 132.

Phase II, the design and specification portion of the project, will cost the county $377,000. The anticipated cost of the total construction project is $4.8 million.

DeMeyer lives on Marian Dr. along with several other homeowners whose property will back up to the new extension when completed.

"Going ahead with this extension will let the state off the hook in correcting the intersections," DeMeyer told the board.

"Millions of taxpayer dollars are going to be spent to fix a state problem," she later stated.

Bonnie Thomson Carter (R-Inglewood Dist. 5), who is chairman of the Public Works and Transportation Committee, told board members

Support for Rte. 53 growing

By SANDY HARTOGH
Staff Reporter

The age-old question regarding the extension of Rte. 53 into Lake County may be one step closer to getting an answer.

Close to 4,000 public comments drawn from numerous public hearings held by the Lake County Transportation Improvement Project (LCTIP) this year indicated the county's growing support of the controversial project.

According to Peter Harriet, Deputy Project Manager for LCTIP, for every four comments that supported the extension there was one of opposition.

"The support wasn't surprising - the number of comments we received was," stated Harriet who claimed the responses were the most LCTIP has ever received regarding the proposal.

A reported 90 percent of the comments were in favor of the extension in contrast to the alternative of widening state Rtes. 12, 21, 60, 83 and 137, and constructing bypasses through Grayslake and Mundelein.

A number of county organizations have been stepping forward to voice their support for the extension, including the Lake County Farm Bureau, the Northwest Municipal Conference, the Lake Zurich Chamber of Commerce and, most recently, the Grayslake Chamber of Commerce.

Harriet said further studies into population and employment impacts as well as transportation and environmental analysis will be conducted late this summer. Once completed, LCTIP will summarize all of its information including public comments into an Environmental Impact Statement which will be presented at public hearings to be held at the end of the year.

Radioman, Chapp dies at 40

BY BECKY DUBA
Staff Reporter

On July 7, Daniel Chapp, 40, of Waukegan died in a Knollwood nursing home after suffering a stroke. He had been a talk show radio host for WKRS-AM 1200 radio program "Word of Mouth" for many years.

Chapp suffered from multiple sclerosis and became seriously ill last April.

Through his radio program, he touched many in the community and friends had commented that he was a benefit to the profession.

Aside from his radio program, he was a promotions and marketing director for the Marcus Gurnee Cinema. He also loved arts and had held positions with Peaches Records in Atlanta along with theater management in Los Angeles.

At 5:30 p.m. on July 19, a memorial service will be held at St. Paul the Apostle Church in Gurnee.

Chapp's family resides in Mich., and a funeral mass will be held on July 13 at St. Augustine Church in Richmond, Mich. Internment will follow at St. Michael's Cemetery in Richmond.

He is survived by his parents, Richard and Julianne Chapp of Harrison, Mich. Other relatives include his brother Gary and wife Helga, brother Jeff and wife Nina, and a sister, Lori Jeske and husband John. Other survivors include a niece and nephew, Aurora and Noah Chapp, grandmother Elizabeth Kopchick, and Godmother Monica Trautman.

Gov calls hearings on peaker impact

By TIM FROELIG
Staff Reporter

Gov. George Ryan has responded to complaints from concerned Lake County citizens, and called on the Illinois Pollution Control Board (IPCB) to conduct a series of hearings on the environmental effects of peaker power plants.

"I have recently received a great deal of public comment over potential environmental threats caused by the recent proliferation in Illinois of new, natural gas-fired, peak-load electrical power generating facilities known as 'peaker plants,'" Ryan wrote in a letter to pollution board chairman Claire Manning.

In the two-page letter, Ryan asks Manning and board members to address five specific questions:

- Do peaker plants need to be regulated more strictly than Illinois' current air quality statutes and regulations provide?
- Do peaker plants pose a unique threat, or a greater threat than other types of state-regulated facilities, with respect to air pollution, ground water or surface water pollution?

- Should new or expanding peaker plants be subject to siting requirements beyond applicable local zoning requirements?
- If the board determines that peaker plants should be more strictly regulated or restricted, should additional regulations or restrictions apply to currently permitted facilities, or only to new facilities and expansions?
- How do other states regulate or restrict peaker plants?

Deregulation of the electrical energy industry has resulted in many companies attempting to obtain permits to build peaker plants throughout the Chicagoland area. Once peaker plants are constructed, companies would then sell the energy, much like ComEd currently does. However, it is illegal for a peaking facility to sell the energy directly to a village. Peaker power plants are designed for use when the demand for electrical generation soars, and supporters of such facilities say the energy is cleaner than existing coal or nuclear plants. However, opponents have raised concerns about the potential impact on air, water, and property values.

that once Phase II is completed, county engineers will "start working with the state".

However, board member Al Westerman (R-Waukegan Dist. 7), who is against the project, noted that state Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) told him the state had no improvements in the near future for those intersections.

The project does include a $500,000 appropriation for "good neighbor" features that Carter said will help to mitigate some of the negative impacts the residents may experience.

According to Buehler, the three properties to be acquired by the county include Tri-County Truck Tops located at the Rte. 45 and Rollins Rd. intersection, Mill Creek Auto Works located at 35785 N. Rte. 45, and the Nelson property located at 35759 N. Rte. 45.

Buehler said the property owners would be offered "fair market value" in conjunction with property appraisals and negotiations. He said the funding for the land acquisitions will come from the county's construction and right away programs.

Lee Mikos, who is a member of the family-owned corporation for Tri-County Truck Tops said the move will have a "big effect" on operations.

"Ours is a unique business that you can't just plop down anywhere," stated Mikos. "Even if we get book value for our property, we still come up on the short end."

Charles Siminak, owner of the Mill Creek Auto Works, will not only lose his business. His home is part of 6 acres that the extension will gobble up when completed. He is worried about getting fair market value for his property, particularly since he is close to retirement age.

DeMeyer believes that the three property owners would only lose a portion of their land if the state got involved with the state route improvements.

Westerman and Sandy Cole (R-Grayslake Dist. 11), who also voted against the project, agree that the residents have a valid point in requesting that the state "step up to the plate." One of the concerns of the that Cole pointed out was the planned construction of two left turn lanes from westbound Rollins Rd. onto Rte. 45. She said if Rte. 45 is not widened to a four-lane highway at that point, it will not be able to accept traffic from both turn lanes.

Buehler maintained that only one turn lane would be initially constructed. An additional lane would be added after Rte. 45 is widened from two to four lanes.

tesy" back in the 1970s when Bob Depke was township supervisor. Questions of the legality of such services prompted the county to prohibit their continuation. Now, the homeowners associations in all three subdivisions pay the township for road repairs and maintenance. They also have to hire private contractors to snowplow the narrow roads.

"I think it is a very good law and something that we need," said Porreca, "but we have a lot of old-timers who have seen courtesy township services come to a stop even though they are still paying township taxes. I'm bucking my head against the wall, especially with the new school referendum coming up."

"The township will take our roads into the system if we update to code, but that would mean many of our residents would lose a good portion of their front lawns and possibly living space as well," commented Porreca.

Lorraine Butterfield, president of the Gages Lake Improvement Assoc. of Allan Farms Subdivision, agreed stating that meeting public road width requirements would mean condemnation of many homes in her neighborhood.

"A lot of our residents are discouraged that tax dollars are being used for other roads and not their own," said Butterfield. "We need to do more research to see if this law is beneficial to us."

similar to Barrington. For this reason, organizers of the "Peace in Our Schools" workshops invited Sheehan and Fisher to speak about their town tragedies.

The workshops will be held in conjunction with a local theater group's performance of "Bang Bang You're Dead" which depicts the story of a teen who shoots and kills his parents and five classmates. He is then haunted by the ghosts of the classmates while in his jail cell.

The one-act play, performed by Cary-based Theatre Whatever, was written in 1998 by William Mastrosimone, a Seattle playwright who wanted to bring his audience face-to-face with the realities of school violence.

The play will also run July 26-29 at the Community Church of Barrington located at 405 S. Grove Ave. in Barrington. It will run again July 30 at Saints Peter and Paul Catholic Church on 410 First St. in Cary. Both show times begin at 7:30 p.m. and are free to the public.

The cost to attend either workshop is $10. Children under 16 are free. Child care services will also be offered at $5 per child.

Pre-registration is recommended particularly if child care is required. For registration and more information call 381-1294.

AT A GLANCE

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

Lawyer moves to suppress confession

Wadsworth—The public defender of murder suspect Jason Strong, 24, was scheduled to go before a Lake County Circuit Court judge at a July 13 hearing on a motion to suppress evidence.

Attorney Martin Shaffer is asking the court to disregard Strong's confession to murder claiming that he had been forced to give the statement.

Strong has been charged with first degree murder and concealing the homicide of an unidentified woman, whose body was found at Greenbelt Forest Preserve on December 9.

Strong had allegedly beaten the woman at his hotel, causing blunt trauma to her head.

Community growth head backs Indeck

Libertyville—Libertyville's director of community development John Spoden presented the village plan commission with an eight-page packet, which asks for conditional approval of Indeck Energy's proposed peaker power plant.

Indeck is requesting a special-use permit, and two zoning text amendments to build a 300-megawatt power plant near Rte. 137 and Harris Rd.

Prior to the presentation, plan commission chairman Luke Lukens briefly addressed the citizens attending the meeting, and noted Spoden's recommendation was nothing more than testimony to be considered.

"It should be noted that the staff (Spoden and his employees) does not make these decisions (on a final vote)," said Lukens. He added that Spoden's recommendation would receive "no more or no less weight" than public testimony.

Church expansion causes tension

Gurnee—Expansion plans for the Gurnee Community Church, located at 4555 W. Grand Ave were approved by the Gurnee Village Board, but not without some conflict.

Architect Daniel Robison outlined the church's plans to expand the facility from 20,000 to 38,375 square feet, and was requesting a special use permit from village officials.

Prior to the vote however, resident Shawn Depke told board members that the church's expansion would be detrimental to adjacent property owners because it is on a flood plain. Rainwater, he said, would become a problem to surrounding homes and businesses.

Depke said board members have been purchasing properties from residents in an attempt to move them away from flood plains, and could not understand why there should be a double standard for the church. He also cited a conflict of interests, noting Welton and other trustees attend the church.

The special use permit was then granted by a 4-1 vote.

Township considers suit against clerk

Lake Villa Township—Lynn Hoffman, in her second term as Lake Villa Township clerk, may be facing a lawsuit from the town board.

The board alleges that since 1998, Hoffman has repeatedly failed to deliver minutes to the board for timely review.

According to Hoffman's attorney, Michael A. O'Brien, an Illinois statute specifies that minutes of township meetings open to the public must be available for public scrutiny "within seven days of being approved by the public body"—the "public body" being, in this case, the town board of trustees.

What the statute does not regulate is how long the clerk may take in submitting the minutes to the board for review.

There were ten instances of meeting minutes submitted several months late, according to the records of town supervisor Sue Hanson.

Both sides hope to resolve the issue without going to court.

Businesses favor Rte. 53 extension

Grayslake—In a unanimous vote, the Grayslake Area Chamber of Commerce board of directors chose to support the proposed Rte. 53 extension from Lake Cook Rd. to Interstate 94 and Wilson Rd.

"This has been a topic of great importance to everybody, especially the business community," explained Tim Perry, Chamber president. "Grayslake is being choked with traffic."

Get the point?

Perry said he believes growth will bring more traffic. "What we would like to do is view this as a way to preserve the community spirit of small-town Grayslake," he commented.

"Bad traffic patterns equal bad business," Perry added. He said business people view the proposed extension as both a "quality of life" issue and an economic issue. "If people cannot have their businesses succeed, they can't pay their bills."

Man recovering after golfing accident

Round Lake Beach—Donald Nelson, of Round Lake Beach, is in fair condition after surpassing serious injury in a golf cart accident at White Deer Run Golf Club in Vernon Hills.

On July 4, Flight for Life rescue officials transported Nelson to Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge, after he had been pinned under the roof of the golf cart.

While traveling down a small slope 33 year-old Nelson had applied the brakes of the cart and it flipped over, Deputy Chief John Kincaid, of the Vernon Hills Police Dept., said. He had been attempting to reach a thruway tunnel to access the 17th hole of the golf course.

According to hospital officials, Nelson had sustained orthopedic injuries from the accident.

Police station zoning approved

Mundelein—The Mundelein Village Board approved zoning changes that will allow the new police department building to be constructed.

The area where the new station will be constructed, just northwest of where the current station is located, had been zoned for commercial and multiple family residential use. The motion by the board rezoned the area for public use.

Demolition of the site on the corner of Rte. 45 and Seymour has already started.

The new 42,000 square foot facility will be able to serve the community for the next 30 years.

Fishing to re-open on Lindenhurst lakes

Lindenhurst—As of Aug. 1, local fishermen can again enjoy fishing on Lakes Potomac and Waterford. At a regular meeting of the Lindenhurst Board of Trustees, an ordinance was passed by unanimous vote allowing fishing on those two lakes, as well as Lake Linden and Sprigglede Lake.

Lindenhurst Lakes Commission chairman Bill Roesler announced that spawning of large-mouth bass had been confirmed after a year-long restocking project.

Three years ago, a carp infestation caused the lakes to become muddied. A restoration project was initiated to reclaim the lakes.

Fishing of bass and muskies will be allowed on a "catch and release" basis only. Catfish may be harvested at a rate of six per day. There is no limit on the harvesting of bluegill.

No live or dead bait fish will be allowed, although other kinds of bait, such as nightcrawlers, are allowed.

Water is all clear in Antioch

Antioch—As mandated by the Safe Drinking Water Act (SDWA), a consumer confidence report has been published detailing the results of tests done on Antioch's water sources.

The SDWA requires yearly testing of all public water supplies. The results of these tests must be supplied in reports.

Six underground wells, located throughout the village limits, supply water to residents. The water is pumped from aquifers located hundreds of feet below the ground's surface.

Mike Ruxton, water and sewer superintendent for the Village of Antioch said, "As with any well water, there are numerous inorganic substances such as iron, calcium and manganese. The levels are well within the allowable limits and pose no health risk."

Tests also check for pesticides and herbicides that come from agriculture, stormwater runoff and residential uses.

Restaurant, citizens work toward truce

Fox Lake—Residents, village officials and restaurant owners met in less confrontational setting, striving for long-term solutions for Kings Island neighborhood residents.

Owners of Famous Freddie's vowed to continue to meet with neighbors, and conclude the summer with an end-of-season meeting. They outlined 15 steps they have taken or will soon take to improve the popular restaurant and bar's operation.

"What we are really looking for is a solution. Noise is a big issue for me. Some nights, it is reasonably quiet, others can get carried away," said resident Mike Gruff.

Mayor, board agree on new trustee

Wadsworth—The mayor and Wadsworth village board have come to an agreement on who will fill the vacant trustee position.

At the regular board meeting Mayor Evelyn Hoselton appointed John Nordigian, chairman of the Wadsworth Plan Commission, to the seat. Board members unanimously approved her request.

Nordigian is no stranger to Wadsworth village officials. The newly selected trustee has served on the village plan commission since 1997. Mayor Hoselton noted that the majority of trustee's were acquainted with Nordigian.

Regarding the recent selection, Hoselton said, "I feel

Volunteers increasing for Adopt-A-Highway program

BY BECKY DUBA
Staff Reporter

For seven years, the Lake County Division of Transportation has given businesses, civic and not-for-profit organizations an opportunity to volunteer services for a cleaner community.

The Adopt-A-Highway program has met with very high success since its initiation. Volunteers have removed litter from 250 sections of Lake County highways with participants including Saddlebrook Farms Homeowners Association, Waukegan Township Staben Center, Lake Bluff Open Lands Association and Baxter Healthcare Corporation.

"The program is very successful," said Lake County Division of Transportation Director Martin Buehler. "Right now it covers over half of the county's roadways."

The goal is to cover all of the roadways. Buehler explained that Illinois changed the laws to provide for the program.

"The concern was with training and accepting liability," he said. "Then the state passed the law and the county adopted that program."

Citizen groups have helped maintain 294.6 miles of county roadways.

"We provide high-visibility vests, trash bags and safety information and put up highway signs to recognize the particular groups for their efforts," Buehler said in a written statement.

He also explained that before the program, very little was done to clean up the roadways.

"Whenever we had the excess manpower or time, we would do something," he said. "But that wasn't very often."

When organizations apply for the program, they are given a section of roadway from one major intersection to another major intersection. They are expected to pick up litter on both sides of the road at least twice a year for two years.

In the first year of the program, 37 organizations participated. Enrollment has grown since then to this year when 177 different groups are participating.

Applications for the program should be sent to the Division of Transportation offices at 600 W. Winchester Rd., Libertyville, IL 60048. They are due by Aug. 15 and participants must be at least 10-years old. Those younger than 18-years much have adequate adult supervision.

For further information, visit the Division of Transportation on the Lake County website at www.co.lake.il.us. Brochures are also available by calling 362-3950.

Peaker looms as massive headache

There are undoubtedly places in Lake County where the general citizenry would welcome, maybe even with open arms, the location of a peaker power plant. Libertyville isn't one of them. Yet Libertyville could well become an initial site for an electricity generating facility best suited for heavy industry like noisy, smelly "smoke stack" factories of years gone by.

Benumbed after 18 pressure-packed public meetings over eight months, members of the Community Development Department are recommending to the village board approval of a peaker plant at a site in the backyard of Grayslake and the internationally acclaimed residential development of Prairie Crossing.

Now members of the Libertyville Village Board have the arduous task of making the final decision on siting Indeck Energy Services' $100 million peaker plant in Mallory Industrial Campus, zoned for offices, manufacturing and distribution businesses. Mallory is in the extreme northwest corner of the village, far removed from residential and other commercial sectors. Hanging over the head of village trustees is the overwhelming rejection of the peaker installation by voters last March in a non-binding referendum.

Plan commission members aren't hell-bent for economic development or thumbing their noses at electors. They say they may take the pro-peaker position because they have to, obligated by Libertyville's own zoning laws, state statutes and the dictates of the new deregulation atmosphere in which power utilities operate. Well, maybe. At this point, village leadership is pretty squirmish about walking into a test case.

Indeck has made a case for providing supplemental power. Unquestionably, there is a place for peaker plants in our energy hungry society today. But the question begs: Why do the Indeck investors insist on going where they are not welcome? Sure, there are economic reasons for the altogether "unindustrial-like" location—access to transmission lines and necessary water and natural gas supplies required by the generators. But Indeck already knows 25 conditions must be faced, including unimaginable quantities of water and noise that makes a steel mill sound like a tranquil meadow.

Mallory could well turn out to be the site in hell for Indeck. Do the investors think neighbors and village officials whom they have intimidated and brow-beat in the permitting process are going to slink quietly away? When the generators crank up like a 747 preparing for take off, villagers will be heading for the courts besides putting in earplugs.

Libertyville trustees could well be doing Indeck a huge favor by rejecting zoning approval.

Tussle over RVs now out of hand

One of the attractive qualities of Lake County is social and geographic diversity that affords a broad range of lifestyles and recreational activities. A short drive from home can put you virtually in "another world." Horse country. Boating and fishing mecca. World class musical entertainment and museums. Marvelous mall shopping. All at our fingertips.

This "near yet far" feature has contributed greatly to the popularity and growth of recreational vehicle campgrounds. Today, there are almost three dozen RV campgrounds in the county. Almost all the parks are clustered in Antioch Township. The closeness is the basis of a three-way tussle between RV park owners, park users and neighbors. Make that a four-way struggle if county government is included.

Each of the vested interests wants something they don't now have. Park owners want to expand the 180 day camp season to year around. Neighbors generally want to legislate the RVs out of existence. The county wants more control. RV owners want to enjoy their camper units in peace and quiet. Surprisingly, RV sales companies are not involved in the lengthy embroilment, at least not yet. They could make the RV controversy a five-sided argument.

What the RV mess needs is a referee. None of the combatants is going to back down in our judgment. RV sales and service is a big business. RV campgrounds are an important part of the county economy. RV camping is more popular than ever. Antioch Township possesses the basic ingredients that attracts RVers—nearness to water, woods and suburban-style "wilderness." A large number of campers live in nearby Lake County communities—the "near yet far" factor we noted above. So the hassle isn't merely a local issue.

If the parties to the RV argument aren't going to cave in, how about a little give in? There's a lot at stake. More than meets the eye. This is a classic situation where leadership is needed. How can having fun cause so much trouble?

VIEWPOINT

Farm museum seen as county treasure

Ray Rockenbach could be on to something. The retired hardware merchant, who was reared on a farm in Vernon Township, has a vision of establishing a working farm museum in Lake County.

Rockenbach thinks the Ray Lake Farm on Ehart Rd. in Fremont Township, west of Mundelein, would be an ideal location.

"The barn is just the right size," Rockenbach observes convincingly.

Ray Lake Farm, 403 acres with a complete farmstead in good shape, is the latest acquisition of the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. The Ray family raised pure-bred Black Angus beef cattle. A model of an Angus cow graces the entrance to the farm, accessible from highly traveled Rte. 60. The Ray home, a rambling two-story Georgian style, is virtually hidden in a grove of towering oaks. Ray descendants sold to the Forest Preserve at below market prices to preserve their family heirloom for open space and others to enjoy.

In Rockenbach's opinion, the barn with built-in milk house is large enough for several milk cows, a team of horses and a hay mow. There is a hog barn nearby. A sturdy two-story farm home on the premises is in habitable condition.

"I can see school children coming out to see the cows and horses. There'd be a couple of brood sows. Wouldn't the kids get a kick out of seeing baby pigs? We could add a chicken house with no trouble."

Obviously, Rockenbach, 86, has been giving the working farm museum idea a lot of thought. He and Don Snetzinger, an ex-farm boy and now a Lake Zurich banker, agreed that the Forest Preserve District's 13 acre Bonner Farm is too small to become a "working farm." Bonner Farm buildings are being restored to represent a mid-1800s Lake County farmstead on Grass Lake Rd. in the vicinity of Lindenhurst.

What Rockenbach envisions is a layout that typifies Lake County agriculture pre-World War II when hundreds of dairy farms, modernized and electrified, formed the backbone of the local economy.

Rockenbach was the youngest member of a large family that farmed 160 acres on Milwaukee Ave. between Halfday (now Lincolnshire) and Wheeling across from the original Tripp School. His father sold out in 1927 during booming economic times and moved to Crystal Lake to retire. But dad kept a family cow, Ray noted proudly. Ray's older brother put his mechanical talents to good use at a garage in Grayslake that grew to become Rockenbach Chevrolet, now one of the largest Chevy dealerships in the nation. The business is owned by Ray's nephew, Doug.

Ray beams with anticipation in what a working farm museum would add to the lifestyle of Lake County and embellish local history. "The Ray Lake Farm is an ideal spot. As public property the place is protected. I think the farm museum would be a wonderful project," he declared.

Rockenbach would like to get in touch with like-minded persons. He can be reached at 847-223-5553. Who knows what might happen?

Pet project

There's always something new under the sun to distract teachers from focusing on the ABCs. Area teachers have an invitation from Assisi Animal Foundation for no-cost tutoring in how to teach children responsible pet ownership. The innovative program is the brainchild of Assisi Director Lee Linklater, a former teacher herself, who now operates the no-kill shelter in Crystal Lake.

Better days

In most ways, life gets better all the time, doesn't it? Just a year ago all of us were quaking in our boots over Millennium Madness. Remember last summer when people were buying generators and stockpiling canned goods and bottled water? Silly. At the time we had no idea how well off we were with cheap gasoline. Twelve months from now we'll be wringing out hands over something else.

Mourning Marx

Newspapermen from all over Illinois gathered in Joliet Wednesday to pay final respects to Marx Gibson, 59, whose life was ended much too early by the ravages of bone and lung cancer. After military service, Marx began his life's work in journalism as a weekly reporter. He rose through the ranks to become managing editor of the Kankakee Daily Journal, later joining the Herald News in Joliet, the flagship of Copley Press where he became editor and general manager. In 1997, he became president of Provena St. Joseph Medical Center Foundation in Joliet.

As a consultant, Gibson put his talents and commitment to excellence to good use on other newspapers, including the paper you now are reading. What Lakeland Newspaper reporters are reporting today and how they are writing relates directly to lessons learned from Marx Gibson. Even when gravely ill, Gibson was a true newsman, writing a beautiful acceptance speech for a state-wide award he was unable to accept in person June 22. Thanks, Marx for your guidance. Our condolences to his wife and family.

Future headlines

Dept. of Defense sources have indicated an interest in relinquishing approximately 200 acres at Ft. Sheridan now used by the Navy. Watch for a scramble between the Forest Preserve Dist. and nearby municipalities for acquisition rights. Workers in the Phil Crane campaign camp are abuzz with a report that Gov. George W. Bush will make an 8th Dist. stop, probably after his nomination. Crane's stock as the future House Ways and Means chair continues to rise, meaning he'll be working closely with Bush if the Republicans are successful in November.

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Potter charting far-reaching campaign

Jack Potter, avowed candidate for mayor of Waukegan, may look like he's campaigning in the wrong places leading up to the Feb. 27 primary.

But the sixth generation Lake Countian points out astutely that Waukegan residents live in six different townships, have any one of seven zip codes and can have mailing addresses of North Chicago, Zion, Gurnee, Wadsworth or Libertyville.

The restless ex-pharmacist, now a real estate broker, is promising to cover all these points and more in his drive to succeed retiring Mayor Bill Durkin. Even though he held no official capacity, Potter was involved in such projects as obtaining $1.5 million in state grants for Waukegan, acquiring the Genesee Theatre and the News-Sun building for the city, getting support for Brownfields and transportation projects and helping develop policing and cleaning strategies.

If elected, Potter says he won't regard Waukegan as an island, but an integral part of Lake County with leadership responsibilities for the entire region.

Soft side

Libertyville Township Supervisor Mike Graham must be getting soft. He fired off a letter (complimentary) to County Board members and prefaced it by apologizing for its length. Mike thinks the current board headed by Chairman Jim La-Belle (R-Zion) is the best since the mid 1980s (when he was a member).

Zinging Zingle

Zion officials almost, but not quite, are blaming environmental activist Susan Zingle of Wadsworth for anonymous flyers ripping plans for peaker generating plants proposed for Zion. With an eye toward economic development, the Zion council headed by Mayor Lane Harrison has been open and positive about peaker plants.

Noisy world

Plan Commission Chairman Luke Lukens of Libertyville can't help but wonder if there are any new businesses these days that aren't open to noise pollution charges. He has been grappling with the controversial peaker plant proposal for eight months. Now residents of Bull Valley Subdivision are protesting a planned 48 acre sports complex at Rte. 45 and Peterson Rd. on the basis it will shatter the serenity of their community.

Buffalo business

Big-buck developers from Buffalo Grove are causing sleepless nights for Libertyville area residents. The peaker promoters, Indeck Energy Services Inc. and Equity One Development Corp., which is pushing the sports complex plan, both are headquartered in the thriving south Lake County community.

Beach unguarded

Park District President Gayle Cinke can't shake off charges that favoritism is being shown to Grayslake's new aqua center with lifeguards while Jones Island Beach, used for 40 years, is unprotected. Cinke insists the beach isn't used enough anymore to warrant having lifeguards on duty. Statistics seem to support Cinke's stand. Lines form at the new $3.4 million swim emporium while only a handful of people use the beach.

Oppose takeover

Two police departments are at odds with State Sen. Terry Link (D-Vernon Hills) who supports a Highland Park proposal to turn over patrol of Rte. 41 to State Police. After Link said he'd come to the rescue of Highland Park to abandon Rte. 41 patrols, Lake Forest and Gurnee officials quickly went on record opposing a state takeover. Highland Park's request stems from a racial profiling rhubarb involving its police.

Duty calls

If not for a prior commitment, Illinois Lt. Gov. Corinne Wood would be swinging a golf club Aug. 2 at Steeple Chase Golf Club, Mundelein.

That's the day of a benefit golf outing co-sponsored by the American Cancer Society, Lake County Unit, and the Lake County of Navy League where a portion of the proceeds is earmarked for breast cancer awareness, a favorite cause of Wood's.

The lieutenant governor's prior commitment happens to be the Republican National Convention in Philadelphia.

"Duty calls. I'd rather be at Steeple Chase, but the convention takes precedence," remarked Wood, who is serving as honorary chairperson of the joint outing.

Navy League President Tom Doddington said both golfers and non-golfers alike can participate in the outing. Prospective golfers and persons interested in sponsoring outing events are invited to contact him at 623-1400 to secure reservations.

Everyone attending the outing can participate in a silent auction to be conducted after dinner, Doddington reported. The auction includes weekend hotel packages, airline tickets, theater tickets, entertainment equipment and golf items.

The fix is in

It was obvious that the majority of Lake County Board members had already made their decision concerning the Rollins Rd. extension prior to the full county board meeting of July. Particularly after the Lake County Dept. of Transportation issued a press release stating the board's approval of Phase II of the extension the day before the vote was actually taken.

The Three Stooges—Moe, Larry and Curly—a half-century ago had this little history joke in their routine: One would ask, "What happened in 1776?"

Another would answer, "What street?"

The stooges of this new century, in terms of history at least, appear to be our college students.

Don't ask them, "Who's buried in Grant's tomb?" Or, "Which U.S. president from Illinois was born on Lincoln's birthday?" They might not know, and apparently don't care.

Nearly 80 percent of seniors at 55 top colleges and universities—including hallowed old Harvard and pompous old Princeton—received a D or F on a recent 34-question, high-school-level American history test.

The exam, given to 556 college seniors chosen at random, included questions drawn from a basic high school curriculum. For example:

—Who is famous for having said, "Give me liberty or give me death?"

(Few of the college students knew anything at all about that patriot Patrick Henry, whose eloquent oratory once was familiar to all Americans.)

—Who was the "Father of the United States Constitution?"

(Only 23 percent of the seniors identified James Madison as the "master builder" of the Constitution. Most guessed it was Thomas Jefferson.)

Students were much more knowledgeable about popular culture. For example, 99 percent of the seniors could identify those profane adolescents "Beavis and Butt-head" as television cartoon characters.

A retired history teacher tells me, "Schools have stopped teaching American history. They have replaced it with 'social studies,' a kind of fuzzy mixture of history, government, economics, civics, sociology, geography and anthropology. For some reason, many of today's teachers seem uncomfortable with American history."

The study, sponsored by the American Council of Trustees and Alumni to measure the teaching of our history, found that none of the 55 colleges or universities require it for graduation. And 78 percent of the schools don't require students to take any history classes. They are allowed to graduate despite their ignorance of history, as if the story of our great nation isn't important to them.

George Washington has been virtually eliminated from elementary school textbooks, the study found. It is there, they say, that the problem must be addressed.

What's the outlook otherwise? Not good. Today's politics are tomorrow's history and, according to studies, teenagers' interest in the political system is at an all-time low.

A concerned group of lawmakers has introduced a resolution calling on educators and state officials to strengthen American history requirements at all levels of the school system.

One of them, Sen. Joseph Lieberman of Connecticut, quoted Jefferson's warning, "If a nation expects to be both ignorant and free, it expects what never was and never will be."

"Our nation seems well on its way to testing that proposition," says Lieberman.

St. Mary's Road—a con-job on the public

State Rep. Susan Garrett (D-Lake Forest) and Lake County Board member Martha Marks (R-Riverwoods) recently sponsored a forum in Mettawa to discuss the issue of whether the widening of St. Mary's Rd. should be included as one of the alternative options in the transportation project that is soon to make recommendations. Garrett was publicly "chastised" by a colleague for grandstanding and trying to make political points by calling for the public hearing.

In my mind, and I said so at the hearing, Rep. Garrett, instead of grandstanding, "was taking a stand, and that's grand." And, by the way, is it unusual for any public official to hear from the public on any given issue, and win some political points in the process? In this case, I thought that it was a breath of fresh air that two public officials, from two different political parties, called for the hearing. Martha Marks and Susan Garrett, instead of being criticized, should be commended for giving the citizens their opportunity "sound out" on the ridiculous option of widening the very rustic, St. Mary's Road.

When the Lake County Trans-

SEEING IT THROUGH

John S. Matijevich

(LCTIP), an "unholy alliance" between the Illinois Department of Transportation and Illinois State Toll Highway Authority, was formed about two years ago, I said that it was a "front" to eventually recommend extending Rte. 53 in Lake County. It's starting to take shape that way and the "Project" has hired one of the top public relations firms in the country to "sell us on the merits" of their final recommendation.

Inclusion of the St. Mary's Rd. widening as an option is one of the most flagrant backroom con-jobs that you can imagine. I can just hear what went on. It goes something like this. Up to now the only alternatives to the Rte. 53 extension have been widening and improvements to Rtes. 83, 45, 12, 21 and the Tri-State Tollway. Someone came up with the scatterbrain idea of including an option "that no one can stomach," so that they all "get mad as hell" and look to Rte. 53 as the "solution."

When I spoke briefly at the Garrett-Marks hearing, I said that the large crowd can breathe easier; there's no intention to widen St. Mary's Road; it's just a scare tactic by the Rte. 53 proponents, otherwise known as LCTIP.

It reminded me, I said, of a transportation expert's proposal, many years ago, to widen the scenic tree-lined Green Bay Road through Lake Bluff and Lake Forest. It wasn't just the citizens in those two cities who opposed it, just about everyone did, and it never became a reality. Likewise, widening of St. Mary's Road will never become a reality. What should be investigated, I volunteered at the meeting, was just who was responsible for putting the St. Mary's Rd. option "on the table."

The "spin" is on. Not too long ago, Gov. George Ryan was given a figure of $1.8 billion dollars to construct the Rte. 53 extension. That figure wasn't grasped out of the air; it was given by none other than the Tollway Authority. The problem is that the figure doesn't fit into the overall scheme of things; in other words, the promotion of Rte. 53 as the so-called "best option." So, magically, the Authority just two months after giving the $1.8 billion dollar figure suddenly changed it to $830 million, or $1 billion less than their original estimate. To get away with the "Spin," the executive director said that he used "old numbers," and should have waited for new numbers, plus his new figure reflects 2007 dollars rather than current dollars. All kind of suspect isn't it? Sounds like the Brooklyn Bridge sale, all over again.

It wasn't too surprising to hear State Rep. Sidney Mathias (R-Buffalo Grove) speak at the forum in favor of the Rte. 53 extension. He wants to move traffic gridlock further north into central Lake County, and out of his district. If Rte. 53 becomes a reality, it will bring about more urban sprawl. Yes, there will be more people coming to Lake County but why make moves that will bring even more and add to the congestion woes that we have?

Every study that I have seen through the years says that, even if Rte. 53 were extended, the other alternative north-south state highways always mentioned (not St. Mary's Rd.) must be widened and improved. If that is so, I said at the hearing, simple logic and common sense leads me to believe why not start with those existing highways first. The truth is that IDOT for some years has fought the improvement of those highways and the "fixation" has been on Rte. 53. Look how long it has taken IDOT to improve the gridlock at Rte. 120 and Rte. 45. They couldn't avoid it any longer.

First things first. The Tollway Authority has had some scandals, and that's without any state oversight over the agency.

What I am saying is that it is about time that the state take oversight authority over the tollway agency. Those toll boxes jingle with almost a million dollars a day, and no one in state government has even a peek over any of it. "I've said it time and time again that the "original tollway bonds" were paid off in 1980 and, under the laws that created the then Tollway Commission, the tollways should have become freeways. But, to keep those toll-boxes jingling, new tollway extensions were built, and more bonds were sold. They would love to construct the Rte. 53 extension because more bonds would have to be sold and tolls would have to be raised to pay them off. That will keep "them" in business for a long time. Don't worry, St. Mary's Rd., you're not in the equation.

Having more fun, getting more done

Your dream was to own your own business, and now you do. Your dream was to be your own boss, and now you are. Your dream was to work fewer hours and have more leisure time, but now reality is setting in.

You've already worked more than 50 hours this week. You wanted to spend Saturday with your family, but you really need to tackle all those things you've been putting off. Just this once, family time will have to wait while you go in and get caught up.

If this sounds familiar, maybe it's time to make a few changes. Changes that can help you enjoy your work more, lower your stress level and get more accomplished. Here are some ways to have more fun and get more done.

Working smarter, not harder

Realize that you can't do it all. This is a key to reducing the stress that kills productivity. If you find yourself staying awake nights feeling guilty about all of the things you didn't get done, you aren't being selective enough in choosing what you do.

No one has ever gotten it all done, so don't feel guilty about letting some things fall by the wayside. Stay focused on your priorities. Do only those most important tasks.

Plan and prioritize. From time to time we all get distracted from the important by the urgent. To avoid this trap, plan and prioritize your work. Divide your work into "must do," "need to do" and "want to do."

These questions may help you establish your priorities: 1) What work will produce the most results in the shortest time? 2) What work will help me achieve my long-term goals the quickest? 3) If I don't do this task today, what are the consequences?

Work at a steady pace. The old fable describing the race between the tortoise and the hare is really very true. You'll get more done if you find a comfortable pace of work and stay at it.

I divide my work into bite size chunks. I promise myself a little break when I finish a portion. That often helps me stay with a project a little longer.

Know when you do your best work. I recently visited with a young college student who told me she was taking a 7:30 a.m. summer class because that was when she was most alert.

The early part of the day is also when I perform at the highest level. I take on the most challenging tasks when I'm at my peak. Your day may really get started at noon. It doesn't matter as long as you don't waste your peak time on routine phone calls, paper work or follow-up.

Save some time for yourself. I don't care how full of energy you may be, you still need some time to recharge your batteries. How you recharge will vary from person to person. For example, I work with people all day long. When I recharge, I prefer to be alone. I may go for a motorcycle ride, work in my shop or read a book.

A computer programmer, who spends all of his or her time in a cubicle writing lines of code, may wish to mingle with friends. What you do is up to you, just make time for it.

Have some fun. You get to choose whether your work is a vocation or a vacation. Most successful people enjoy most of their work. Look for things to laugh about, share a cartoon or funny story. Fill your office with your favorite things. Bring your own music if it makes you feel better. Keep it soft. You don't want to infringe on the rights of others.

Fabric cleaner adds latest technology

Antioch-based firm can now clean all types of wall hanging without removal

BY BECKY DUBA
Staff Reporter

In the last few months, Bob Robinson has started supplying Lake County residents with a new drapery cleaning method.

His company is "Off the Wall Interiors," based in Antioch, uses the "On-Site" system of cleaning.

The "On-Site" cleaner system is a portable dry cleaning method used to treat all types of wall hangings. The process allows it to be completed on site while the drapes are hanging. A safe, solvent and environment-friendly, non-chlorine based procedure guarantees customers no shrinkage or damage to the curtains. It won't soak or saturate either.

The "On-Site" company is based out of Idaho.

"I found out about the new way of cleaning by reading a window covering magazine that advertised it," Robinson said. "I've only been using the equipment for a couple of months but I've been installing wall fabrics for 15 years."

The new system cleans all sorts of wall hangings including silhouettes, duettes, lumi-minettes, valances, balloon shades, swags and jabots.

Robinson continued with the list saying,

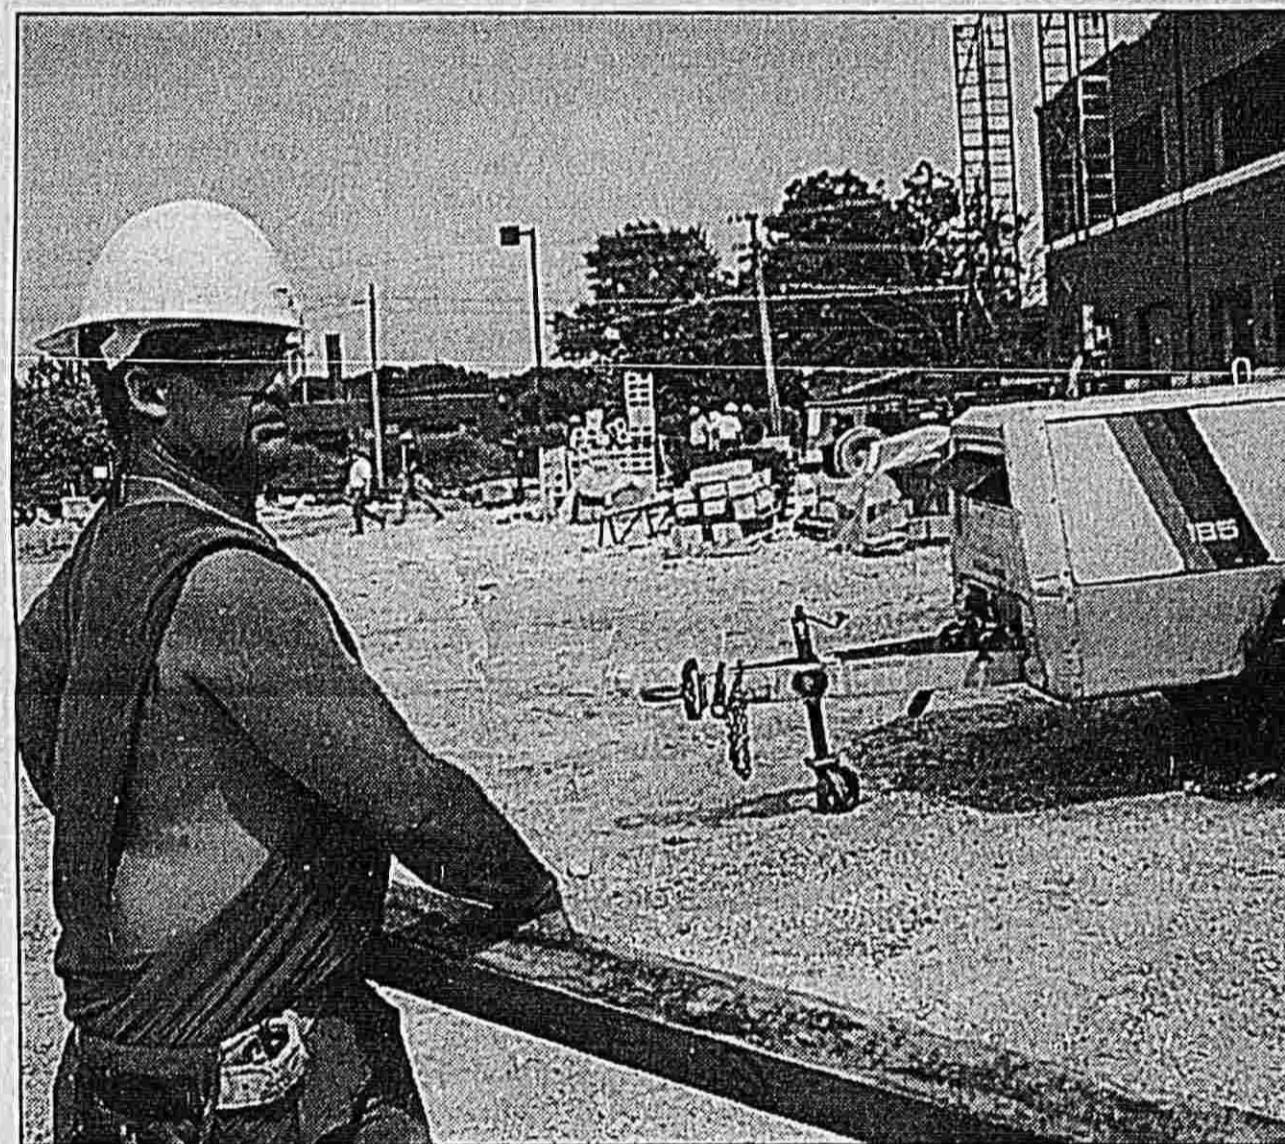

"The system will also clean pool tables, mattresses, polyester—almost anything."

He said that the process doesn't take long. "If I start in the morning, I'll be done by mid-day and the fabric will be dry in 2 hours."

Right now, Robinson is interested in getting the word out to the public about the system and he said it's been "slow going."

"I've tried some direct mailing to get the word out," Robinson said. "I've also written a letter to almost every interior decorator and designer on the North Shore. I'm working on getting the word out to more hotels, hospitals and funeral homes. They have a need for the service too. I'm interested in working in either the commercial or residential district."

Robinson is able to clean drapery without risk of damage to customers items and guarantees no shrinkage, damage, loss of sizing or flame retardant properties. For more information call Bob Robinson at 847-395-2823.

Building focuses on health care

ALTER-CARE® has completed the development of the Hunt Club Professional Building, a 15,000-square-foot office building in Gurnee, John H. Driscoll, AIA, president of the healthcare real estate services affiliate of the Alter Group, a national corporate development firm, made the announcement.

The building is owned by Dr. Bradley C. Rule, DDS, who is relocating his 2,000-square-foot dental practice to the new facility. Dr. Rule has practiced in Lake County for 12 years.

The remaining 13,000 square feet will be leased to other professional tenants.

Ground for the building was broken in the summer of 1999. Alter Construction Company, a construction affiliate of The Alter Group, built the facility.

The building's unusually versatile design makes it ideal to accommodate traditional physician's or dentist's offices, a diagnostic or treatment facility, medical laboratory, as well as other professional uses.

Designed by Richard Preves, AIA, president of Libertyville-based Richard Preves & Associates, the traditionally styled masonry building harmonizes with the character of the surrounding residential neighborhood.

Partners group certified as SBA development company

Lake County Partners recently received U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) approval as a Certified Development Company (CDC) and has reconvened the CDC Executive Loan Committee. A CDC is a nonprofit corporation set up to contribute to the economic development of its community or region. CDCs work with the SBA and private-sector lenders to provide financing to small businesses. Lake County Partners is one of only 290 CDCs nationwide, each covering a specific area.

The Lake County Partners's CDC Executive Committee includes: Bob Lee, vice president, commercial lending, American National Bank; Joe Modica, CPA, Dam, Snell & Taveirne, Ltd.; Dwight Houchins, president, GLMV Chamber of Commerce; David Young, president, Lake County Partners; Bill Westerman, executive vice president, Libertyville Bank & Trust Co.; Jeff Pickus, secretary, The Pickus Companies; and Steven L. Amdur, CEO, Steven L. Amdur Realty Co., Inc. The CDC (504) Loan Program provides growing businesses with long-term, fixed-rate financing.

Proceeds from 504 loans must be used for fixed asset projects such as purchase of land and buildings; construction, renovation and expansion of a facility; or purchase of machinery and equipment. A business is eligible if it is for-profit, has a tangible net worth of less than $6 million and a profit after tax of less than $2 million for the preceding two years, and will occupy and/or operate from the site receiving the loan. The 504 Program cannot be used for working capital or inventory, consolidating or repaying debt, or refinancing.

Golf Open sets record for Condell

For the first time in its 19-year history, the Condell Golf Open sold every tee time as 250 golfers helped raise more than $70,000, also a new record. The proceeds will help buy a new heart-lung bypass machine for the hospital's open heart surgery program.

The open, sponsored by The Auxiliary of Condell Medical Center, was held at Pine Meadow Golf Club in Mundelein. A win-less million dollar shootout was underwritten by Cardiothoracic & Vascular Surgical Associates, S.C.

MEYERS ON MORTGAGES

by Gary S. Meyers

EXPERTS ANSWER READERS QUESTIONS

Your mortgage interest rate is high. How do you go about refinancing to lower it? Does a higher appraisal than purchase price affect when the PMI can be removed from a mortgage? The Meyers Report went to the experts for answers to this and other questions.

Q. We have been in our home for a year and a month. Would this be a good time to look into lowering our mortgage rate and changing our mortgage lender? Our interest rate is almost 12 percent.

A. The key is the quality of your credit. Back in April of 1999, when you took out your loan, the average 30 fixed rate mortgage was going for 7.10 percent and no points. With a 12 percent rate, you either had credit problems or were essentially swindled. If credit was the issue, 13 months of timely payments would most likely get you a lower rate, either from your current lender or from a new one. Try your current mortgage holder first.

Current rates on a 30-year fixed rate, conforming mortgage are about 8.375 percent. "It would be beneficial to consult a bank about refinancing your mortgage," said Tom Drozdz, residential mortgage originator at Cardunal Savings Bank. "Without more informa-

And we wonder why they misbehave?

Hello readers,

This week, instead of responding to a question, I want to tell you about an experience that I had that should be good training for all parents as well as a great illustration about how, I believe, bad behavior problems in kids get started and become permanent.

Last week, my husband and I had the opportunity to visit one of our favorite restaurants. We got there and we were promptly seated in a booth between two other booths. The meal started out peacefully enough until I noticed something hitting me in the head. I turned around and had a very unobtrusive peak and saw, out of the corner of my eye, a little boy, about 4-years-old, with a bedraggled looking stuffed bunny doll.

The bunny had been the offender. Knowing it was probably a child, I made sure to not let this child see me looking at him. I didn't want to encourage anything more. The first hit, I figured it was really no big deal. Just a child doing a child thing. I also figured that like my parents, and like we try to be, some adult at the table would enforce the good behavior that should have happened. The second and third hit in the head confirmed just how off I was! After the second and third hit, I turned around, again carefully, to see what the woman next to this child was doing. Absolutely nothing was what she was doing. Why would I expect differently, right? Here is a 4-year-old, standing on someone else's head in a restaurant, hitting another person with a stuffed animal and no adult at the table is even aware of it.

At about the time I was really getting irritated with what was occurring behind me, in the booth behind my husband, all of a sudden a toddler began to shriek so loud it could have broken glass. Understand that the room we were in was very tall and open, so the acoustics were perfect to extract every last ounce of shrillness from this shriek. The shrieking continued and continued and continued as everyone else in the large room got quiet and stared in disbelief. Now, babies do shriek. We all know that.

That was not the problem. I'll get to the problem soon. After 15 straight minutes of shrieking, the mother (who was giggling about it with three other mothers) picked up the shrieking child and began to cuddle and kiss this shrieking baby. The shrieking continued. Finally after 25 minutes of it, this mother decided to take the child out of the room. I swear I half expected to hear the room break out into applause when she left.

Now, what are the problems with these two scenarios. What did both parents do here that was not only bad in terms of common sense, but will virtually ensure bad behavior from those kids forever? Both parents stood by and did nothing to stop this horrid behavior. Horrid behavior that was effecting other people. The bad behavior was met with cuddling and kissing when one parent finally decided to do something about it. Now, I know that both parents were trying to follow that ridiculous advice that is so rampant out there.

That is the advice about ignoring bad behavior and it will go away. Sorry moms and dads out there. In my experience, nothing could be further than the truth. Certainly, ignoring might work if you and the child are the only two people in the room to respond. But, when you have a room full of people who inadvertently give responses to that child's bad behavior and then you cuddle the child while he or she is behaving badly, you are letting that child know that the behavior will be seen and profitable and useful. That will make sure the child will do it again. Additionally, that child begins to realize that his needs are much more important than anyone else around him. Boy, what a dangerous way to do things. How would I suggest differently?

The first thing I suggest is that a screaming child needs to be removed from the room and the attention immediately with no discussion. The car would be an excellent place to sit the child down and just sit quietly until the crying is no longer profitable. If diapers need changing or food needs to be given, fine, but don't allow this attention-getting behavior to get the attention of everyone else.

This child was simply bored. You could easily tell that. Second, when you are sitting in the car, you are not cuddling or coddling. You are sitting. Bring a book in the glove compartment so that you have something to focus on. If you allow your child to understand that shrieking that way gets attention and good stuff, you better be ready to deal with that throughout their childhood and adulthood in different forms. Cuddling can happen after the child gets control of himself or stops the crying and carrying on. That way, the child as-

Nerve disease is a treatment challenge

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am 84 years old and I have peripheral neuropathy. My feet and legs are painful, numb and sometimes tingle. I take Neurontin, but it is not helping. What can I take at night when the pain is worse? Is hot or cold application good or bad for my feet?—J.G.

ANSWER: Degeneration of peripheral nerves or their insulating material causes nerve misfiring. A barrage of misinformation floods the brain with signals of pain and peculiar sensations. Muscles might malfunction.

Kidney disease, diabetes, vitamin B-12 deficiency, lead poisoning and gene disorders are a few of the causes of peripheral neuropathy. If the doctor finds a cause, treatment of the cause can end the nerve disorder. If the doctor cannot find a cause and that is the more common scenario, then medicines and a few tricks might lessen the distress.

Before going to bed, soak your feet (and legs) in cool tap water for 20 minutes. In the evening, take two aspirins if aspirin is not off-limits for you. Apply a light coat of Zostrix cream (capsaicin) to feet and legs. It can lessen discomfort.

Neurontin, Tegretol and Elavil are three prescription medicines that have made life bearable for many. It might be that it's only a matter of time before Neurontin kicks in.

All peripheral neuropathy patients can contact The Neuropathy Association for timely information and the latest news for treatment. Their toll-free number is: (800) 247-6968.

TO YOUR HEALTH

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please advise what the maximum daily milligrams are for a "low-salt" diet. I add up all the sodium totals when they are shown, but I don't know what the limit ought to be.—V.C.

ANSWER: Four to 6 grams of salt—sodium chloride—is a moderately restricted salt diet. That's the amount in a teaspoon of salt. (Four grams equals 4,000 milligrams—mg). Note that this is sodium chloride, not just sodium. You can stay within the limits by not adding salt during cooking or at the table and by not eating salty foods such as processed meats.

If the label gives you a reading in sodium only, then the daily limit is 2.4 grams or 2,400 mg.

The special report on sodium and potassium explains these essential minerals. If readers would like a copy, write: Dr. Donohue—SR 82W, Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped (55 cents), No. 10 envelope and $3. Please allow 6-12 weeks for delivery.

Innovative training shoe lifts athletes to new heights

Basketball players with gravity-defying vertical jumps are said to have "hops", while spiking specialists on a volleyball team need to have good "ups" in order to elevate above the net. Whatever you choose to call it, athletes in most sports would love to improve their vertical leaping ability. New developments in the design of specialized training shoes are allowing athletes to do just that - and also reduce their risk of injury.

Plyometric platform shoes have been around since the mid 80's. In 1993, Jumpssoles came to market as the first plyometric platform that could be easily strapped on over regular shoes and easily taken off. The shoes are elevated 2 inches off the ground at the ball of the foot to train the user to walk and run on their toes. Similar to wearing high heel shoes without the heel, the calf muscles have to work overtime to keep the heel off the ground. By doing a series of plyometric exercises in these shoes, fast twitch muscle reflexes are developed which can translate to increased vertical jump - and running speed.

The popularity of this concept grew over the years. High school, college, and professional athletes from many different sports trained with the plyometric platform shoes. They included major league baseball, pro football, and pro basketball players inspired by endorsers such as NFL Hall of Fame safety Ronnie Lott and NBA Slam Dunk Champion Spud Webb.

Now the company that developed the Jumpssoles has unveiled the latest development in leg strength training with its Jumpssole Proprioceptor. John Kim, inventor of the original Jumpssoles realized that he could make the base of the platform a mini-wobble board, introducing proprioception to the workout. Kim quickly recognized the versatility the Jumpssole Proprioceptor provides athletes, from the everyday fitness buff to athletes in the collegiate and professional ranks. As a training device it enhances performance. As a rehab device it's both rehabilitative and "pre-habilitative".

A relatively obscure term until recently, proprioception is a scientific term for the body's awareness of balance. New training techniques have emerged which incorporate challenges to balance while doing resistance exercises. For example the military press could be done on a weight machine while standing on a wobble board. The challenge of lifting the weight is compounded by the added necessity of balancing on an unstable surface. A wider range of muscles are recruited as the body tries to stabilize itself, making for a more intense workout which more fully prepares the body for real world forces felt from all directions.

The San Francisco 49ers got word of the device and had some of their players with ankle sprains use the proprioceptors in their rehab program. Marv Marinovich, father of once highly recruited quarterback phenom Todd Marinovich, took to the Proprioceptors as well. He began incorporating them into his training sessions with elite up-and-coming and professional athletes.

Then came this year's cinderella Final Four basketball team, the University of Wisconsin. Tony Bennett, former NBA player and son of coach Dick Bennett, saw Marv Marinovich using the Jumpssole proprioceptors and had him design a program for the entire basketball team.

"The Jumpssoles Proprioceptors worked great," says Tony Bennett. "We used them extensively, even taking them on the road with us. And sure enough, we stayed remarkably healthy this year. No one missed a game due to a debilitating ankle or knee injury. Proprioceptive training of the lower leg has been for us the best insurance for staying healthy and playing strong throughout the year."

For more information about the Jumpssoles Proprioceptor, call 1-800-JUMP-USA. Another option is to visit www.jumpusa.com, a sports training Web site where the Jumpssoles Proprioceptors and other training equipment can be purchased. The site is a good resource for participants in baseball, football, basketball, tennis, golf, volleyball, strength training and more.

sociates the good stuff with self-control. In the car, you are not ignoring the child completely. You are just sitting to watch and make sure he is safe, but also to make sure that his screaming never gets too much attention. You are also not rushed about getting back inside because you know and I know that your child's future and the messages he learns now is much more important than your social engagement.

Let's also talk for a moment about what messages a child gets from being allowed to act that way in front of others. I can think of no better way to teach a child that the sun rises and sets for them. That everyone is less important than them. Again, very dangerous messages to get across. Teach your children from the time they are infants that they are just another person in the family.

One last thing for those of you who are saying that kids will be kids and you just have to let them do what they do. There were plenty of other children at that restaurant. All well behaved. It is never the child's behavior that is the defining problem. It is the parent's acceptance of that behavior. If it is accepted it will continue. It is never too early to start teaching them the right way and it will most certainly help your child's future to be a much more successful and pleasant one!

LAKE COUNTY FAIR GUIDE

July 14, 2000

Lakeland Newspapers/B11

County fair takes years of planning, effort

BY BECKY DUBA
Staff Reporter

After one to two years of planning, the gates of the Lake County Fair open July 25 at 8:00 a.m., ready for nearly 200,000 visitors to wander through by Sunday's closing.

"The Saturday before opening, the vendors begin showing up," said executive secretary for the fair Mary Gunia. "The indoor commercial exhibitors set up on Sunday and Monday and the animals usually don't start coming in until that Tuesday."

Before this, in the spring the grounds are worked over and temporary employees are hired.

"We're full to capacity," Gunia said about the number of exhibits. "We're very fortunate that we fill up."

She cited many reasons behind the fair's popularity.

"We are a signature event. There's not another fair like ours in the county," Gunia said. "Because we attract a lot of people, businesses know that they can reach a lot more people at the fair than in taking out a newspaper add. It's just good economics."

And many businesses do take advantage of the opportunity the fair offers. Gunia stated that they have an average 12,000 commercial exhibits lined up.

"We have people selling; we'll have churches come in, the Waukegan Public Library and the fire department," Gunia said naming only a handful of the numerous exhibitors.

With all the fair has to offer, it's not surprising that 200,000 visitors are expected.

"That's not our highest number," Gunia said regarding the 200,000 estimate. "In 1998 we had a total of 251,000 people pass through. Everything depends on the weather, but usually a good Saturday or Sunday is our busiest."

'Swingin' at the 72nd Annual Lake County Fair

The whole family can have fun and be 'Swingin' at the Fair," at the 2000 Lake County Fair. From horse shows and truck pulls to live Country music, delicious food and midway rides, you're guaranteed to have a great time. This year's fair is scheduled for Tuesday, July 25-Sunday, July 30 at routes 120 and 45 in Grayslake. Also, look for the Lake County Fair pickup truck driving around Lake County. They will be passing out fair tickets and giving people the opportunity to win a new truck. Simply guess the number of kernels of corn in a jar. The sweepstakes will continue throughout the Lake County Fair.

Admission is $5 per day, per person for general admission.

Children age 12 and under are admitted free and citizens 65 and older are admitted for $3. A season pass can be purchased for $15 and a membership pass for $20.

For more information about the Lake County Fair call the Fair Office at 223-2204 or the Lake County, Illinois Convention and Visitor's Bureau at (800) 525-3669.

At the fair...

Talent contests for everyone

For anyone that enjoys being in the spotlight, the Lake County Fair Talent Contest is the place to be. The Talent Contest Final is one of the most popular attractions on the Main Stage. There are three divisions: junior, senior and adult. Categories include instrumental, vocal, dance, comedy, magic and others. All Lake County residents are welcome to compete for prizes ranging from $25-$150.

DOWN

If you think all ATVs are created equal, you've never ridden a Yamaha. Same goes for ATV offers. 'Cause now, for a limited time, we're offering low monthly payments on EVERY new 2001 (and new prior year) Yamaha ATV, starting at just $69 a month, with zero down. So visit your Yamaha dealer today. 'Cause out here... Bears rule.

On your Yamaha credit card, subject to credit approval. Get minimum monthly payments as low as $69 and a 13.99% APR for 2 years from the date of purchase, if your account is kept current on new 2001 (and new prior year) Yamaha ATVs. Get a Blaster for $69 per month, MSRP $3,099. Thereafter, the Standard Rate 17.9% APR will apply for accounts which are kept current. Otherwise the Default Rate 21.9% APR will be applied to all balances. Minimum Finance Charge $1.00. Offer good July 1 - December 31, 2000.

ATVs with engine sizes of 90cc or greater are recommended for use only by those age 16 and older. Yamaha recommends that all ATV riders take an approved training course. For safety and training information, see your dealer or call the ATV Safety Institute at 1-800-887-2887. ATVs can be hazardous to operate. For your safety: Always avoid paved surfaces. Never ride on public roads. Always wear a helmet, eye protection and protective clothing; never carry passengers; never engage in stunt riding; riding and alcohol/drugs don't mix; avoid excessive speed; and be particularly careful on difficult terrain.

WE ARE NOW BOOKING APPOINTMENTS FOR AIR CONDITIONER CLEANING AND SERVICE

If your air conditioner uses less energy than this one, it's obviously broken.

The best way to fix your cooling bills is with a Trane XL 1400 air conditioner.
It's one of the most energy efficient units you can buy, with a SEER rating up to 15.45. And with a 10-year limited warranty on the Climatuff™ compressor and coil, even more money stays in your pocket. Designed, tested and manufactured to last.

Miss Lake County Fair Pageant, Junior Miss & Little Miss Lake County Fair Pageant

The Fair Queen has the honor of bestowing blue ribbon awards to all fair competitors. The pageant will be held on Tuesday, July 25, at 7:30 p.m. on the Main Stage. For those a little younger than the Queen herself, the third annual Junior Miss Lake County Fair Pageant will take place on Wednesday, July 26, at 7:30 on the Main Stage. Also, you can't forget the littlest Queen of the Fair. Her reign will start after her competition on Thursday, July 27, at 7:30 on the Main Stage.

At the fair...*Exhibits

The concept of a fair originated with the exhibit hall and livestock competitions, and the tradition continues at the Lake County Fair with over 12,000 exhibits in 2000. The Lake County Fair Exhibit and Commercial Buildings will be open for the majority of each day of the Fair. And once again, the Fair will have the Ag-Expo exhibit, located at the South end of the Fairgrounds. Other daily events to watch for are Perry's Exotic Pet Zoo, the Hampel Family Circus, R.D. Coonan as the Chainsaw Artist, and Sharlie Stron, stiltwalker and juggler.

The Way You See It

Picture a treatment that gets you back on your feet and enjoying your normal routine more quickly.

Imagine diagnostic technologies that minimize your procedure time and your worry, too. At Lake Forest Hospital, it's a comfort to know your visions become everyday reality.

The Way We Do It

Lake Forest Hospital invests millions each year to obtain new and improved technologies to care for our patients. We're dedicated to maintaining and enhancing our state-of-the-art facilities to bring quality care closer to home.

Most of all, we are committed to enhancing your health and quality of life through our technology.

Special Technologies For Every Specialty

Whether leading edge or tried and true, our technologies will always be a foundation of our strength. From cancer care to cardiac care, surgery, orthopedics, obstetrics, neonatal services, pediatrics and more, we'll continue caring for the quality of your life.

We View Technology

Whole-Hearted Care

"Patients don't care how much you know until they know how much you care."

*Philip A. Faraci, MD Medical Director,
Condell Heart Center*

At Condell, we hold your hand while we heal your heart.

In matters of the heart, extraordinary care and reassuring support are top priorities. Condell's heart team combines the greatest skill and the best equipment with whole-hearted compassion and brings this premier service to Lake County.

It all begins with Dr. Philip Faraci, a distinguished surgeon who has performed more than 10,000 heart operations. Dr. Faraci gives his patients the technical expertise and emotional support they need to get better. And he instills the same mix of skill and nurturing spirit in every member of his team.

From emergency room to recovery room to cardiac rehabilitation, Condell brings you whole-hearted care.

For more information about total cardiac care at Condell Heart Center, call Kathy at (847) 362-2905, ext. 5632.

Career Clipboard Notes

What Can I Ask in an Interview?

The old adage "There are no bad questions only bad answers." is a great guide to the interviewing process. Our goal in the interviewing process is to discover as much as we can about our potential future employer. The more we know, the better equipped we will be to evaluate the company against our career goals.

However, there are two factors to remember when we ask questions. We need to make sure we phrase the question using positive words and we need to be sure the question is asked at the right time.

The timing of questions should be related to where you are in the interview process. In the first stages of the process you can ask questions about how the company functions, how you will fit into the organization and why this position is open. Questions related to compensation, benefits, working hours etc., should be left until the last stages of the discussions.

What should you do if the interviewer asks you about what compensation you require? I would suggest telling that person that you are looking for compensation that is proportionate with your contribution to the company and that the opportunity is more important than the compensation.

What if the interviewer asks you for your current compensation? I would tell them the truth but also let them know that the opportunity is more important than the compensation. If the interviewer asks about your current benefits, be truthful. Sometimes recruiters use this information to make a case to executives for better benefits.

Question phrasing is important to show future employers the same positive attitude you will display when you are hired. Ask questions related to how you can contribute to the good of the company. Questions about compensation and benefits are often tricky because most companies need to work within specific guidelines. However, if the interviewer doesn't give you this information you may need to ask about these items. I suggest simple open-ended questions. For example: "Would you tell me about the compensation package for this position?" or "Would you explain the compensation and benefits for this position?" As I mentioned before, this should be done late in the interviewing process.

In closing, let me remind you to get all of your questions answered before you accept (or decline) a new position. Always remember to ask questions in positive language and to ask them at the appropriate time.

WE DO NOT KNOWINGLY ACCEPT ADS FOR ANIMALS IN OUR FREE/GIVE AWAY COLUMN.

If you must give up your pet, please consider these facts.

"Free animal" ads suggest that there is something wrong with the animal, or that it has no value.

"Some people who respond to these free animal ads are not reputable and are more concerned about making a profit than the animal."

"Charging a fee to a potential pet owner confirms the responsibility of pet ownership for an entire lifetime of that pet. For more information, please contact the Humane Society."

By Nancy Sakol

Q: I am sending you this e-mail at the request of my son, who is anxious to spend his next summer working. Beginning September he will be entering high school and was wondering if at 15 years of age you could please forward some ideas for first time jobs that may be worth pursuing? Thank you for your time. F.R. (via e-mail)

A: It is refreshing to hear there are 15 year olds who are "anxious" to work. I personally look back and remember how excited I was at the idea of getting my first job, which was also at age 15. The idea of working over the summer can be, of course, very rewarding monetarily, however, with a well thought out plan, it can be looked at as a stepping stone for the future. For instance, if what a 15 year old is looking for is simply a "first summer job," with the knowledge that when school starts, it's back to the books... perhaps taking a job for the summer with a local retailer may be desirable for the discounts as well. There are retailers out there whose businesses thrive on summer influx of patrons, such as hardware stores and garden centers where they are eager to hire hard working individuals. This may prove to be a good move depending on whether or not you are able to work on weekends during the school year or perhaps during the holiday rush known to retailers. Being unsure as to the area you reside, a "fun" job for many first time workers would be applying for a position with a community park district, aquatic facility or day care operation, as a trainee, which can pave the way for employment over future summers. Good employees are most often offered the opportunity to return the following summers. Why? Because a good employee who has worked for a full summer has been both paid and trained and should be looked upon as an asset. It may also help to give a 15 year old some insight as to whether or not they are interested in pursuing a career in different fields such as child development, teaching or recreation. If total flexibility is what you are looking for over the summer, it is never too early to set your sights on being your own boss. There are many opportunities available during the summer months for the young entrepreneur wanting to set his own hours and his own pace by starting out mowing lawns and cleaning up yards. You can earn a lot of money at your own pace. This is done by simply handing out flyers to neighbors and scheduling them for certain days of the week. Therefore, you can schedule your own time as you know you are able, enjoy the great outdoors and get compensated daily. Yard work is tough and should be compensated well. Another is babysitting and not necessarily for infants. Parents, during the summer months, who have children in grade school, often could use a break themselves. Why not send out flyers informing neighbors that you are available certain days of the week for certain hours that are pre-scheduled. Again, don't sell yourself short. Charge a fair amount for one child and additional for two, but don't bite off more than you can chew. Children are a lot of work and a big responsibility. You could go for walks, have picnic lunches, play games. With any job... you must be willing to take on the responsibility of being on time whether or not you are self employed or an employee for someone else. Remember, if you can't... someone else will. I would be interested in hearing what your 15 year old has decided to do. Good luck and keep me posted.

*Private club in Gurnee set to host 2000 U.S.
Women's Open*

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

GURNEE—Defending champion Juli Inkster, Sherri Steinhauer, Karrie Webb, and even special exemptions for Hall of Famers Nancy Lopez and Pat Bradley, just to name a few, highlight a Who's Who crowd when women's championship golf comes to Lake County.

And speaking of Bradley, the last time the U.S. Women's Open golf championship was held in Illinois was some 20 years ago, when Bradley claimed the title at the LaGrange Country Club.

Well, the wait is over.

"It seemed like it was only a matter of time," said Don Pieper, Merit Club Head Golf Professional.

"This is like a dream of mine, to host a major championship," echoed Merit Club President Ed Oldfield.

The Merit Club, an exclusively private golf club with only a handful of members, is located just south of Belvidere Rd. off Milwaukee Ave. in Gurnee.

With only a handful of members, this gem won't be so private the week of July 20-23. And many believe the U.S.G.A. couldn't have picked a more perfect venue.

"Many of the golf courses built in the last 20 years are not conducive to seeing a lot of golf," commented Peter deYoung, Championship Director for the 2000 U.S. Women's Open.

"But the Merit Club is. I think (Ed) Oldfield and Bert Getz, Sr., when they had the idea for a golf course, built into it some gallery ideas that will make it one of the great venues for actually watching a golf tournament. We hope to turn the course into a stadium-like atmosphere for a week."

Since the golf course was constructed on more than 300 acres of land, spectators should have no problem moving around.

"They (the spectators) will be able to see the women players on each and every hole," noted Getz, Sr., who serves as General Chairman of the Merit Club. "We think that the world will also recognize the beauty of Lake County, which we are very proud of, in seeing what we have created on this farm."

Vantage points, as well as concessions, will be plentiful.

"We are planning to have between 100,000 and 150,000 people in attendance for the tournament," added deYoung. "We are going to set up a large pavilion as well as several tents. The pavilion will be a tented, air conditioned area with large-screen televisions so that spectators can come in, sit down and take time out from the absolute viewing of the golf tournament and relax as you would in your own home. It'll be a great time for the entire family."

And speaking of amenities, deYoung added that there will be enough food to feed well over 100,000 people for the week.

"Concessions have really become refined over the last 15 to 20 years," he said. "We will be offering all different types of food that can be found in the top-flight restaurants in Chicago. A Taste of Chicago-type theme is what we're going for in our public pavilions, as well as in our concession locations, which will be found throughout the golf course."

The Merit Club was chosen to host the championship in 1992 when the U.S.G.A. Women's Amateur was held at Kemper Lakes in Long Grove. It was at that time The Women's Committee checked out the Merit Club as a possible future host sight.

"We really liked what we saw," Kendra Graham, Director of Competitions for the U.S.G.A., said at Media Day. "The contract was then signed in 1994." Graham said that the initial course set-up actually started two years ago.

At more than 6,500 yards, Merit Club will play as one of the longest in the championship's history. The fairways will be cut at 7/16 of an inch with the initial rough being cut at 1.5 inches and the primary rough standing at around 3 inches.

"We're hoping it (the course) will play hard and fast," added Graham.

Hard, fast, but true are the greens, which will read about 10 on the stimprometer.

Course Superintendent Oscar Miles, formerly of Butler National in Oak Brook, is to thank for the incredible conditions.

"Oscar has done a miraculous job in a short eight years," said Oldfield.

The actual design of the course was left up to Oldfield and architect Bob Lohman.

But it was the Getz-Oldfield combination that masterminded the evolution of the Merit Club.

It started in 1967 when the Getz family acquired the property with the purpose of running a herd of pure-bred Angus cattle. They ran the herd for many years with as many as 250 mature cows, several of which were national champions that came off Stonehenge Farm, as Getz called it.

"Then subsequently as the area became more fully developed, the pressure was on to make this something more than a cattle farm," he reflected. "When I couldn't get veterinarians or tractor parts, I decided that the ultimate use of this property was for something else."

Getz wanted to keep the land open to prevent rooftops from appearing on the wonderful rolling hillsides.

"So we decided to perhaps go the route of building a golf course," Getz said.

Enter long-time friend Ed Oldfield.

Oldfield had been the head golf professional at Glenview Club, where Getz was a member.

"Ed and I had many conversations about my thoughts and ideas of what a golf course ought to be," recalled Getz, Sr. "Ed concurred with my thoughts and told me he would even leave the Glenview. We wanted to build a golf course that was fun and enjoyable. With four sets of tees playable for all handicaps, I think we achieved that."

Initial construction of the course began in 1990 with members first being accepted two years later.

Getz and Oldfield maintained much of the rolling, traditional prairie land.

The terrain includes an oak savannah, a wooded section on the front nine and features meadow prairie terrain with wetlands in the lower areas.

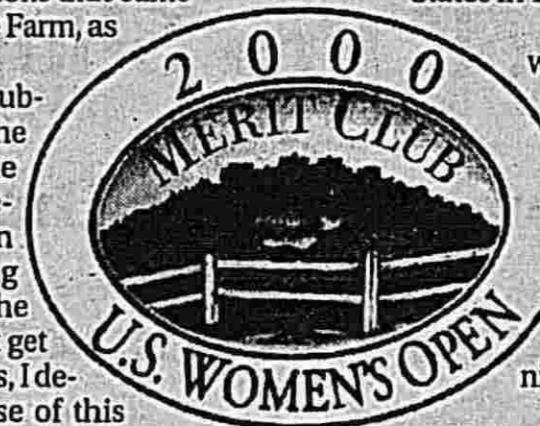

"We planted over 800 trees in strategic areas," said Getz. "They (the trees) are still maturing, so it's going to get even better and more beautiful in upcoming years."

The course is part of the Liberty Prairie Conservancy and was recognized in Golf Digest as one of the top new courses in the United States in 1992.

The tournament schedule will include practice rounds Monday through Wednesday with the tournament proper taking place Thursday through Sunday. A junior clinic, "The Spirit of the Game," will be conducted July 17 by famous golf comedian Dennis Walters.

Julie Inkster, of Los Altos, California, will attempt to become only the seventh women's player to repeat as champion. She won the Open last year at Old Waverley in West Point, Mississippi. The 1999 LPGA Player of the Year won the tournament with a four-round total of 15-under-par.

"We are proud to host to 2000 Women's Open Championship," said Getz. "With over 15 countries represented, we're looking forward to watching the world's top players."

ATTENDING THE U.S. WOMEN'S OPEN

Inkster has repeat performance in mind

By ROB BACKUS
Staff Reporter

It's not easy juggling a family and playing on the pro golf circuit. But California native Juli Inkster has made it look easy.

"It's difficult balancing the two," said Inkster of coordinating time with her husband and family, which includes daughters Hayley Carole, age 11, and Cori Simpson, 7. Meanwhile, husband Brian is the Head Golf Professional at Los Altos Country Club in Los Altos, Calif.

"We sacrifice a lot but we make it work. I think (Brian) really likes what I do. For awhile there, I wasn't sure if I'd be able to do both."

One could never tell by looking at the Inkster portfolio.

So who said look out for Tiger Woods anyway!

Truth of the matter is, Inkster is another golfer prowling the links.

The reigning U.S. Women's Open titleholder will defend her crown the week of July 20-23 at the Merit Club in Gurnee.

"I think the golf course sets up beautifully for my game," said Inkster in her assessment of Merit Club.

Actually, many golf courses over the last couple of years have suited Inkster's game to a tee, the most recent case in point being when Inkster repeated as McDonald's LPGA champion a short two weeks ago. It was the Hall of Famer's sixth major title.

Another reason for the rest of the field to be cautious is the fact that the 40-year-old native of Los Altos seems to be on a roll after winning the LPGA Championship on June 25 and tying for fourth in the ShopRite LPGA Classic on July 2. Inkster is currently sixth on the 2000 LPGA money list with $689,028.

Inkster will be looking to win two majors in a season for the third time in her Hall of Fame career. She won the US Women's Open and LPGA Championship in 1999 and the Dinah Shore Championship and du Maurier Classic in 1984, becoming the first rookie in LPGA history to win two majors in a season.

All of this professional success came after Inkster became only the third woman in history, and the first since 1934, to win three consecutive U.S. Women's Amateur titles, the first in 1982.

However, in 1999 Inkster put together one of the best seasons in LPGA history. She won five tournaments, including the aforementioned majors, and became only the second women in LPGA history to complete the modern day Grand Slam (Pat Bradley completed it in 1986).

Inkster also earned a spot in the LPGA Hall of Fame after her 22nd career victory at the LPGA Golf Championship last year. She also eclipsed the $1 million mark in only 16 events on her way to passing both the $4 million and $5 million mark in career earnings.

Inkster closed out the season by being voted the 1999 Female Player of the Year by the Golf Writers Association of America and finishing second to Karrie Webb for the Rolex Player of the Year.

"One of the toughest things today was not getting ahead of myself and knowing it was my tournament to win or lose," said an emotional Inkster after winning last year's championship.

"But realizing the only one who was going to put pressure on me was myself. I had a five-shot lead going into the last hole and just told myself, a lot of people watching me would love to be in this position. That helped me relax."

With Inkster taking the last couple of weeks off and her game already seemingly fine-tuned, could another repeat performance be in the making?

Don't bet against it!

Merit Club's Miles the man behind the scenes

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

You don't see him too often, but if you look or even get the opportunity to play the Merit Club off Milwaukee and Belvidere roads in Gurnee, chances are, you'll definitely feel his presence.

Whether it was destiny or "third time was a charm," Merit Club President Ed Oldfield got his man.

It was a marriage waiting to happen when Oldfield decided to hunt down Golf Course Superintendent Oscar Miles some 10 years ago.

"Ed was the golf director at Glenview club and called me when he and Bert Getz, Sr. came up with the idea of building a golf course," recalls Miles. "I had no intentions of leaving Butler but said I'd help him out."

Speaking of Butler, Miles was the golf course superintendent there from 1980-89. Prior to that, he held the same position at Broadmoor Country Club in Indianapolis for five years.

Oldfield had twice contacted Miles seeking advice and to offer him a position.

"But I said I was still not too interested in leaving Butler," said Miles. "The people there were very nice and I had good flexibility regarding what I wanted to do with the golf course."

After a second meeting, which included dinner, Oldfield finally lured Miles to the old Stonehenge Farm, where landowner Bert Getz, Sr. rented the properties to local farmers.

"I came up to look at the course and really liked what I saw," recollects Miles. "The contour of the land and the air movement was excellent. Good air movement helps keep the grass healthy."

While Oldfield and Miles were chatting, a man ventured up the road—otherwise known as Rte. 120, or Belvidere Rd.

"That I think was the turning point," said Miles. "It turned out the guy walking on the road was Bert Getz."

From there, Getz, Sr., Oldfield and Miles discussed what they wanted to do with the land.

"I learned about their goals and was very enthused with how much input I would have as far as the specifications into the construction of the golf course," said Miles.

Over the years, Miles, one of the renown golf course superintendents around, adopted the nickname "Mr. Drainage."

"Golf course management is about 10 percent of the battle while drainage accounts for about 90 percent," stated Miles. "I learned so much from Dr. William Daniel at Purdue University. He was a good friend who taught me a lot about golf course management, especially with regards to how to drain a golf course properly. It's very unfortunate that we lost him a couple of years ago. So now I'm always trying to improve drainage on top as well as under the ground."

Meanwhile, Miles said the Merit Club—which officially opened its doors to membership in 1992—has matured rapidly over the last seven years. The only thing they were really concerned about in preparation for the tournament was taking out the invasive grass around the perimeters of the fairways and greens.

"We started looking at this four years ago," said Miles. "We replaced it with a more desirable blue grass (for the rough). It took two years to sell that program and then two years ago, eight acres of the surrounding blue grass rough was removed and new sod was laid."

Miles also said that the primary rough on the golf course measures about two inches for the members but U.S.G.A. requires a minimum of four inches for the championship. It presently stands at around three and a half inches.

Controlling the growth rate of the greens was also high on the list.

"Very little watering, so to reduce the leaf of the grass, aerification, top dressing and basically controlling the growth rate of the grass with nutrition," Miles said.

Aside from hosting 12 Western Open's at Butler, the U.S. Women's Open is right at the top of Miles' career highlights.

"That (hosting 12 Westerns) was definitely a big point of my career," reflected Miles. "But this one's different. It's much different and a MAJOR championship. The Merit Club accepted my experience, put me on the Executive Committee, and basically gave us the responsibility of doing anything outside of the clubhouse to present a unique golfing challenge to the contestants and great panoramic viewing areas for the spectators and NBC cameras."

Miles' staff of 24 includes the likes of John Nelson, Enrique Valadez and Chris Blake serving as assistant superintendents.

A graduate of Penn State University, Miles was presented with the "Distinguished Service Award" in 1998 in recognition for outstanding service and untiring devotion to the Illinois Turfgrass Foundation and the turf industry.

Jordan to appear at Merit

Former Chicago Bulls superstar Michael Jordan will join four of the LPGA's Elite women's players as part of a three-hole exhibition Tuesday, July 18 beginning at 2 p.m.

It was announced Tuesday that Jordan, a member of the Merit Club, will join star players Nancy Lopez, Laura Davies and Michelle McCann as part of Junior Day. The foursome will commence at Practice Hole A, located near the driving range. A Junior Golf Clinic will precede the exhibition at 1:30 p.m. at the driving range. All children who are accompanied by an adult will be admitted free on Junior Day.

"Michael Jordan's participation in this special U.S. Women's Open Golf Exhibition will give kids and adults alike the opportunity to see how the greatest basketball player in history measures up on the golf course with three of the top women players in the world," said Peter deYoung, U.S. Women's Open championship director.

ON THE FRINGE

The United States Golf Association accepted a record 953 entries for this year's U.S. Women's Open. A total of 69 players, including 11 past champions, are fully exempt. A total of 150 players representing 14 countries will be competing for the coveted U.S. Open trophy.

By raising the purse to $2.75 million, the USGA made the Women's Open by far the most lucrative championship in women's golf. The next highest purse on the LPGA Tour is $1.8 million. The winner's share is $500,000, up $185,000 from last year at Old Waverley in Mississippi.

If successful in defending her title, Juli Inkster will become only the seventh player in the championship's 55-year history to do so.

And by winning the LPGA Championship and U.S. Women's Open last year, Inkster was appropriately inducted into the LPGA Hall of Fame following the 1999 campaign.

Entering the 2000 championship season, Illinois had served as host to 50 USGA championships. The first of them were the U.S. Open and U.S. Amateur, both played in 1897 at Chicago Golf Club in Wheaton. The most recent USGA championship to visit Illinois was the 1999 U.S. Amateur Public Links, held at Spencer T. Olin Community Golf Club in Alton.

And, there have been eight 18-hole playoffs in the history of the Women's Open with 1998 being the first to go extra holes. JoAnne Carner is the only player that has been involved in more than one playoff. She won a playoff against Sandra Palmer in 1976 before losing to Laura Davies in 1987.

Trivia

Although most people recognize the U.S. Women's Open as the premier LPGA event, it is, in fact, not the case. The U.S. Women's Open is an official USGA event and in no way associated with the LPGA.
